POLICEMEN FACE BRIBE CHARGES IN VANCOUVER

Three Members of Morality Squad Answer Affidavits Presented at Secret Hearing; Counsel Objecting to Secret Inquiry May Ask Attorney-General for New Hearing

Vancouver, Sept. 27.—Three Vancouver police officers, charged with accepting bribes and with malpractice, gave evidence in their own defence before the police commission in secret session this morning.

The commission is continuing its inquiry into the charges on Monday morning it was announced that the hearing would be held in camera. The commissioners, Mayor Louis D. Taylor, J. W. Fletcher and J. A. Garbutt, sat until 2:30 p.m. hearing evidence.

When the commission opened its inquiry into the charges on Monday morning it was announced that the hearing would be held in camera. The commissioners, Mayor Louis D. Taylor, J. W. Fletcher and J. A. Garbutt, sat until 2:30 p.m. hearing evidence.

Mr. Hodgson declared that he might apply to Attorney-General A. M. Manson for a new inquiry on the grounds that a secret investigation was unfair to all parties concerned. Caccia and the two women gave evidence at the Monday hearing it is reported, and were cross-examined at length. Other witnesses are being sought.

APPOINTMENTS TO UNIVERSITY STAFF

Of Thirty-five Named, 27 Are Graduates of U.B.C.

Vancouver, Sept. 27.—Appointments to the staff of the University of British Columbia to the number of thirty-five, of which no fewer than twenty-seven are graduates of U.B.C., were confirmed at a meeting of the Board of Governors on Monday evening.

Succeeding Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside, whose resignation was accepted, Mr. Francis Painter, B.A., native of Vancouver, and son of Mr. H. J. P. Painter City Assessor, was appointed special lecturer in history. Mr. Painter graduated in 1925 and has since been studying at the University of California.

Dr. Charles G. D. Roberts, well-known Canadian poet and historian, has been appointed special lecturer in Canadian literature.

GRAIN RUSH STARTS WITHIN FEW DAYS

Cutting and Threshing General in Prairie Provinces Now

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 27.—With weather in the three prairie provinces reported clear and cool, temperatures ranging from 30 to 60 degrees above, cutting and threshing is general, and the movement of grain will come with a rush within the next few days.

WEATHER DELAYS SPOKANE-PORTLAND AIR DERBY RACES

Spokane, Sept. 27.—With eleven planes on the starting line at Peils Field, the Spokane airport, ready to hop off for Portland, Ore., and a dozen others ready to start immediately afterwards, the Spokane-Portland air derby races were called off to-day because of weather conditions.

MANSON POINTS TO B.C. PROGRESS UNDER LIBERAL'S REGIME

Attorney-General Addresses Large Vancouver Audience at Laurier Club Meeting

Production in Four Basic Industries Has Doubled, He Shows

Vancouver, Sept. 27.—"The golden steps" of British Columbia's progress during the past ten years were graphically portrayed to a large audience in the Ambassador Hall last evening by Hon. A. M. Manson, K.C., Attorney-General of the Province, under the auspices of the Laurier Club.

FIGURES HAVE DOUBLED

"Buy British Columbia products and watch British Columbia grow" was the slogan Mr. Manson hammered home from these facts. The effect on Vancouver alone of the progress he showed by a series of charts revealing that the figures for building permits, customs collections, shipping and bank clearances had all doubled in the same time. The part that the Government had played in this development he illustrated by pointing out leadership that Hon. T. D. Pattullo had given in organizing the lumber trade for handling export trade, sagacity displayed by Hon. William Sloan in maintaining the stability of the Province's mining laws, and enterprise shown by Hon. E. Barrow in bringing hitherto waste area in the Sumas flats under cultivation.

Reductions in taxation, sound social legislation making labor contented, preservation of the Province's credit by sound financing were other governmental policies contributing to this increase in prosperity, he said.

The tremendous increase in the incorporation of companies, he said, showed that capital was not afraid to come into British Columbia.

FEDERAL MINISTERS Now at Saskatoon

Saskatoon, Sept. 27.—Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, and Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canada, arrived here at noon today in the course of a tour that will take them west to Calgary and Edmonton.

WELCOME DINNER TO NEW PREMIER

The Laurier Club's dinner to British Columbia's new Premier, the Hon. J. D. Maclean, will be held at 7:30 o'clock at the Dominion Hotel on October 4, President Stephen Jones announced to-day on behalf of the executive.

As this is the first big function held in Victoria in honor of the new Premier, his address is being looked forward to with eagerness by the public.

A. D. Macfarlane, Cleave White and N. B. Pollock are arranging a musical and entertainment programme. Each member of the club will be allowed to bring one guest, it was announced.

SALMON SHORTAGE SPURS MOVE FOR CONSERVATION AMONG B. C. FISHERMEN

Voluntary co-operation between fishermen and canners to conserve the fisheries of the Fraser River may be the result of the alarmingly small run of salmon to the Lower Mainland Coast this fall. Leading operators in the Fraser are considering steps of this kind now, following a pack of salmon about half as large as that at this time a year ago. Only through the curtailment of fishing, they realize, can still more serious depletion of the fishery resources be prevented.

This movement to restrict fishing has been greatly strengthened by the report of John P. Babcock, Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries, that the run of salmon to the upper stretches of the Fraser has been virtually wiped out, and that four years hence practically no fish will ascend the stream past Hell's Gate.

NEED UNITED STATES AID It is realized here that Canadian fishermen cannot save the Fraser River salmon, the co-operation of the United States, as Fraser River fish reach their spawning grounds after swimming through Washington State waters, where they are caught in large numbers. Mr. Babcock's report, it is hoped, will stimulate the movement in the United States for a treaty by which Canada and its neighbor would agree to joint restrictions on fishing in waters tributary to the Fraser.

This treaty has been drafted and now awaits the approval of the United States. Canada having agreed to the watch British Columbia grow" was the slogan Mr. Manson hammered home from these facts. The effect on Vancouver alone of the progress he showed by a series of charts revealing that the figures for building permits, customs collections, shipping and bank clearances had all doubled in the same time.

PACK IS SMALL Figures just issued by Chief Inspector J. A. Motherwell of the Fisheries branch, show that up to September 17 this year there have been packed only 778,378 cases of salmon as compared

London, Sept. 27.—Home in 1950 will be childless and servantless predicts the Very Rev. William R. Inge, "Gloomy Dean" of St. Paul's. The whole face of the country, he writes in The Evening Standard, "will be spotted with bungalow growths, within which childless couples will sleep, after racing about the roads in their little motor cars. As in America, the typical house will be servantless. Meals will be brought in from a delicatessen shop and heated by a gas or electric cooker. The art of supplying standards will be pressing buttons will be carried to great perfection.

NEW AEROPLANES FOR CANADIAN AIR FORCE

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—To meet the increased activity in aviation, the Canadian Air Force will be equipped with twenty-five new planes, it is reported here to-day. These will include three Fairchild monoplanes, twelve Avro land planes, two De Havilland planes and some other types. The order is said to amount to over $400,000.

BRITAIN'S SUPER-MARINE NAPIER S-5 MONOPLANE WHICH SMASHED ALL SEAPLANE RECORDS IN INTERNATIONAL TEST IN ITALY

Machine secretly constructed in England which won in international speed test at Venice yesterday, driven by Flight Lieutenant Webster at average speed of over 200 miles an hour. For many months the secret of the machine entered for the famous Schneider Cup was jealously guarded as the British Air Ministry planned to snatch the cup from its former holders—Italy.

London, Sept. 27.—The foremost hope expressed by officials of the Air Ministry to-day was that next year's Schneider Cup race, which will be staged in England, as a result of yesterday's British victory will find teams from American and European countries entered, so that the classic event will again assume a truly international aspect.

With the British now in possession of the trophy, next year's race probably will be held on the Solent, the famous stretch of yacht racing waters between the Isle of Wight and the Mainland, where the race was held in 1923.

The plane, which was the victorious Napier S-5, was piloted by Flight-Lieut. E. M. Webster, who was tested, and is considered the best spot in England for the race. Its waters are sheltered from everything except English fogs, and its nearness to London and ample rail facilities allow many thousands of spectators to reach the scene.

Lieut. Webster's victory has greatly cheered the Air Ministry and all the aviation authorities in the country. Recently they have been subjected to considerable criticism because, until yesterday, Great Britain held none of the world's records of importance in aviation.

CANADIAN MINISTER FLIES IN GERMANY; HON. CHAS. STEWART

Paris, Sept. 27.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Hon. Charles Stewart, Canadian minister of the interior, who flew from London to Berlin a few days ago, has arrived in Paris. He visited the French battlefields to-day. He expects to return to Canada on the Empress of Scotland on October 15.

Mr. Stewart, while in Germany, investigated the process of converting low grade coal into oil, says it has not yet reached the stage of being commercially successful.

Mr. Stewart expressed the opinion that a German-Canadian trade treaty would be initiated in the near future, and personally he thought there would be an advantage in such a treaty.

Girl Works Switch As Father is Dying

Rheims, France, Sept. 27.—A possible disaster on the Châlons Railroad was averted to-day by the heroism of a fifteen-year-old girl, Renee E. Chose, daughter of the agent at the small station of Bruny.

The agent, Jules Chose, who was struck and mortally injured by a train while tending the switch lamp, Renee called a neighbor to attend her father and then, choking her tears back, worked the switches for five hours without a mistake until a substitute arrived. Her father died within a few minutes.

EIGHTH ASSEMBLY OF LEAGUE CLOSES

Geneva, Sept. 27.—The eighth assembly of the League of Nations, which has been considering disarmament and security problems for the past few weeks, came to a close shortly after noon to-day on an optimistic note sounded by its retiring president, Alberto Guani, Uruguayan ambassador to France.

The work done by the assembly, President Guani told the delegates in his closing address, was such that "in their future we shall obtain the first reduction in armaments and a better definition of the guarantees of security."

Chat About Canada

London, Sept. 27.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The Prince of Wales and Prince George called on Premier Baldwin at No. 10 Downing Street to-day and had a friendly chat with the Premier on their joint experiences during their recent visit to Canada. Prince George returned yesterday from a short visit to the continent.

Northwest to Share More in Surplus Wealth Piling Up in East

Investment Bankers, 700 Strong From U.S. and Canada, Open Seattle Sessions

Seattle, Sept. 27.—The wealth that has been piling up in the eastern centers since the war needs a permanent or long-time abiding place, and this place is found in the field of investment.

This is the fact that makes so important and interesting the sixteenth annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America which formally opened its sessions at the Olympic Hotel to-day with 700 bankers, delegates present from all the leading cities of United States and Canada.

Of such importance are the deliberations of the convention that seventy-five newspapers and press associations have sent representatives to Seattle to report the proceedings.

"The fact that makes so important and interesting the sixteenth annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America which formally opened its sessions at the Olympic Hotel to-day with 700 bankers, delegates present from all the leading cities of United States and Canada.

Ten billion dollars is the sum that will be invested in bonds, stocks, debentures and other securities this year by the people of United States, plus Jewell of Boston, president of the association said.

"The output of ten billions," Mr. Jewell went on, "makes the securities business the biggest business of the nation to-day, but one, outstripping the automobile and the oil business with their outputs of four and six billions and making the giant business of steel seem only a pigmy by comparison."

"The one business that in its output exceeds securities to-day is agriculture. But if re-sales of previous issues are included, the total securities business would top them all."

Joel E. Perles of Spokane, vice-president of the association, said that Mayor Bertha K. Landis of Seattle, and President J. W. Spangler of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke this morning welcoming the convention to Seattle and the Northwest.

The bond business, in comparative infancy, is distinctly on the "upgrade." A flood of Eastern money, seeking safe investment, is growing yearly, delegates reported, with indications that this year's ten billions will be passed in 1928.

The Northwest, with fortunes in untouched resources clamoring for development, are greeting the investment bankers both as welcome guests and as shrewd business men, with eyes open to the opportunities of this section.

Seattle's optimism was aided yesterday by the announcement that Governor Henry H. Hayes of Stone & Webster & Blodgett, Inc., as next president of the association.

MARKETS SECURITIES

While Hayes is from New York, his firm is primarily interested in market securities of the public utility enterprises managed by Stone & Webster, of which the Puget Sound Power and Light Company is one, and Hayes himself is looked upon as well versed in Western conditions and opportunities.

In addition to last evening's business session, thirteen committees of the association held meetings yesterday completing their reports, after conferences with the board of governors. Reports of the foreign securities committee, the government and farm loan bonds committee, the legislation committee, irrigation securities committee and business conduct committee will be presented to the convention to-day.

Committees dealing with investment trusts, education, industrial securities, municipal securities and constitution and by-laws will report to-morrow morning.

Similar business, with reports of committees and officers, will be held Thursday and Friday mornings. Afterwards complete free for golf, for business conferences, and for opportunities to see Seattle and its surrounding country.

FILIPINOS CALL ON PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

President of Senate Leads Delegation on Insular Matters

Washington, Sept. 27.—Definite announcement was made at the White House to-day that President Coolidge would receive Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, and other Filipinos, who had asked for a conference here, through Resident Commissioner Guevara, to discuss insular matters.

It was indicated that the President doubted that the forthcoming visit of the Filipinos had any particular connection with the question of a new Governor-General.

Eight Killed Over Elections in Mexico

Mexico City, Sept. 27.—Eight persons were killed, ten wounded in a clash of political groups during the municipal elections Sunday in Zacamictla, state of Vera Cruz. One of those killed was J. Cantu, a candidate for mayor. Two others were policemen.

The TOBACCO of QUALITY

Have YOU a "Lunch Counter" Husband?

MOST lunch-counter husbands are men who hate to upset home routine by being late for dinner. So when they're delayed at the office or stay overtime at the golf club they eat downtown.

But today such consideration is unnecessary. The up-to-date housewife serves her family meals at the regular time, while the latecomer's meal is kept piping-hot in McClary's.

HERMETITE

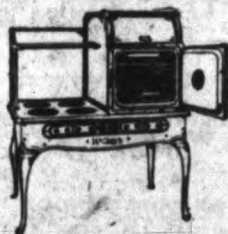

No danger of over-cooking. No scorching. He sits down to a real, home-cooked meal in the pleasant surroundings of his own family. The "stored heat" principle of McClary's Hermetite enables you to keep his dinner temptingly hot without using any more current. The door closes so tight that it makes the oven almost hermetically sealed—only a minimum of heat can escape.

Decide NOW to save the money he spends at lunch counters—to enjoy more leisure—to eliminate drudgery. McClary's all-white, porcelain-enameled electric range will bring to your kitchen economy, beauty, utility and sanitation such as you have never before experienced.

In the very style and size you require, at a price you can afford.

SPEEDIRON

McClary's Speediron Element is the greatest electric range improvement of modern times. Unlike old-fashioned elements, the coils of the Speediron are protected. "Boiling over", pots, kettles and drips cannot injure them. They are safe because they are protected by a removable, cast iron cooking surface. If coils burn out after long service, you simply lift the element out and have coils replaced easily and quickly—at the cost of a few cents.

ENGLISH TRAIN SETS NEW WORLD RECORD

Travels Carlisle to London, 300 Miles, in 5 Hours 45 Minutes

London, Sept. 27.—Englishmen reading their newspapers this morning found three new world marks achieved for their country. The foremost, of course, was the Schneider Cup sea-plane victory at Venice, but while Lieut. Webster was streaking through the air over the Lido to defeat the Italians, another speed record was made which has almost as much appeal to the average Briton as the mark made by the railway train "Royal Scot," which steamed from Carlisle to London, a distance of 300 miles in 5 hours, 45 minutes, making what is claimed as a world's record. As soon as the train arrived in the Euston Station, the engineer and fireman, without changing their working clothes or even bothering to wash up, rushed to take their seats beside the titled officials of the London-Scottish-Midland Railway for a banquet.

Freeman Chambers, who handled five tons of coal during the run, had never been in London before. Responding to a toast, he said he felt like singing a hymn: "Now the laborer's task is o'er."

The third world record, a very odd one, was made at the London Coliseum theatre yesterday by Vera Menchinsk, a ballet dancer. Unassisted she spun around forty times on one toe without touching the other foot to the floor, thus beating her previous mark of thirty-eight. No other balletino, she says, ever accomplished more than thirty-two such spins.

CHICAGO BOY CAUGHT IN SHOWER OF BILLS

Bank Notes Rained Upon Him as He Passed Hotel

Chicago, Sept. 27.—"It isn't raining rain, you know, it's raining dollar bills."

That did John Sutherland, sixteen, paraphrase Al Jolson's one song hit, last night, as he found himself in a shower of currency when walking through an alley near the Sheridan plaza hotel.

First a screen fell from a window, narrowly missing him. Then followed the shower of banknotes in $1, $5, $10 denominations. As Sutherland stopped to pick up the bills there came rolling down a roll of currency about $400, he guessed.

He picked it up, and as he did so up rushed an excited stranger, grabbed it and ran away. Sutherland started picking up the loose bills. A voice from above ordered him to bring the money into the hotel lobby. He did. A second stranger then plucked the handful of bills from his fingers and vanished.

Police found the room from which the money dropped was in the name of "T. Maud" and "J. Harris," both of whom disappeared.

"Who, what and why" to-day remained a mystery.

Roumanian Prince Hunts in Rockies

Toronto, Sept. 27.—Bound for the Rocky Mountains in Western Canada, where he intends to hunt big game, Prince Michael Sturdza, head of the Roumanian legation at Washington, accompanied by Princess Sturdza, arrived in this city to-day.

New Chief Justice of Manitoba Sworn

Winnipeg, Sept. 27.—Hon. D. A. Macdonald, Manitoba's new Chief Justice, was sworn into office yesterday by former Lieut.-Governor J. A. M. Aikins, J. P. Kilgour, K.C., of Brandon, Man., recently appointed to the Manitoba court of King's Bench, was sworn in to-day.

Winnipeg Harvester Beaten and Robbed

Weyburn, Sask., Sept. 27.—Riding in a box car between Souris and Arcola, Mike Moor, Winnipeg harvester, was beaten into unconsciousness by four men and robbed of $92 Sunday night.

The robbers, believing him dead, threw him from the train, which was traveling forty miles an hour. Four men have been arrested.

Boy Scout Calmly Confesses Murder

Berkeley, Cal., Sept. 27.—Calmly cleaning his gun while police investigators stood grouped about him, Jerome F. Cornell, twelve-year-old boy scout, last night admitted killing his step-father, Charles Van Alderwert, thirty-five, manager of the American Express Company, San Francisco, because "the brute had my mother by the throat."

Winnipeg Brewers Get Fine Cut $2,000

Winnipeg, Sept. 27.—A fine of $2,000 against the Shea Brewery Company Limited, Winnipeg, imposed by Magistrate Marshall at Portage la Prairie, Man., for violation of the Manitoba Temperance Act, was cut to $1,000 by the Court of Appeal to-day. The court ruled that while the Manitoba Temperance Act forbids imposition of less than $1,000 upon a corporation selling beer unlawfully, it does not authorize a fine of more than $1,000.

Warsaw Goes to U.S. For $10,000,000 Loan

Warsaw, Poland, Sept. 27.—Negotiations for a $10,000,000 loan by the Warsaw municipality from an American group was authorized yesterday by the Ministry of Finance. The loan will be used for the housing problem and the Ministry of Finance promised a state guarantee if such should be required.

SALMON SHORTAGE SPURS MOVE FOR CONSERVATION

with 1,455,873 cases at the same time last year, and 1,215,482 cases in 1925. These figures indicate that this year's pack will fall considerably below last year's, and British Columbia salmon fishermen and canners, as the parties most concerned, are now seeking to devise a plan which will ensure conservation of the fish and greater stability in the industry.

FISHING TOO INTENSIVE

The experience of this year has brought home to those engaged in the industry a realization that fishing is too intensive. This fact has been emphasized year by year by fisheries officials in British Columbia as well as by the fishermen and canners, but notwithstanding, the amount of gear put in the water has continued to increase. This season something like 430 seines have been in operation in British Columbia waters, or approximately four times the number five years ago.

TOO MANY LICENSES

In recent reports to the Department of Fisheries at Ottawa, Major Motherwell has stated that such an amount of gear is excessive and more than the fishing areas can stand. Under present conditions the department has no control over the number of fishing licenses issued. If licenses are applied for, they are granted, but as the number of licenses increases the department, in order to prevent the fish being depleted, orders longer closed periods. Under present regulations this must continue to be the policy of the department, and Major Motherwell has pointed out, if there should come a time when the gear used the closed periods may become so long and so frequent that fishing may become unprofitable because of the number of licenses and fishermen being subjected to periods of enforced idleness.

PROPOSED CUT IN GEAR

Proposals which meet with most favor in the fishing industry include:

1. That the number of seines be cut five per cent.
2. That the number of gill nets be cut thirty per cent.
3. That the British Columbia Coast be divided into areas, and seines and gill nets be issued only to fish in those areas for which the licenses are taken out.
4. That each canner be allowed a certain number of seines and gill nets and no more, so that a given amount of gear would be operating in each area.
5. That no new canneries be encouraged, and a stated time, and fishing licenses be issued only to canneries now in existence.

New Westminster, Sept. 27.—Asking that the number of licenses issued to seines nets be reduced by fifty per cent and gill net licenses by thirty per cent, a delegation will be sent to Ottawa from the British Columbia Fishermen's Protective Association. The delegation will also ask that British Columbia Coast waters be divided into areas, licenses to be issued for these respective areas.

A further request will be that canners be allowed a certain number of gill and seine nets, but that fishing licenses be issued only to existing canneries.

EIGHTH ASSEMBLY OF LEAGUE CLOSES

The council of the League of Nations to-day voted to appoint an American on the League's permanent economic committee.

An Jeremiah Smith of Boston, recently was named to the financial committee, this action places the League on two League organizations devoted to world economic and financial reconstruction.

The wish to reduce armaments, far from weakening in the face of difficulties, "has asserted its strength and continues to inspire the League assembly," declared President Cusani.

The people of the new world represented in the League, who so long had been faithful to arbitration as the basis of their friendly relations and peaceful development, he said, hailed with delight the discovery that the Locarno movement was bearing fruit and promised to be initiated by other nations than the Locarno signatories.

"Throughout your discussions has run the thread of a single idea," the president said. "The development of international co-operation in every field is that idea. In the sphere of international law the peoples beyond the seas are making a most valuable contribution and it is at their insistence that you have decided to continue work in this direction."

The League this year the president said, had really undertaken a new programme in the economic field and real success had been registered. "You may wait with confidence," he concluded, "for you have entered in resolute spirit upon the endless road of progress."

Insistence by the Latin-American and Scandinavian delegates that codification of the international law must not be allowed to drop, caused a controversy in the League of Nations Commission lasting until the early morning hours to-day. It ended in a victory for the Latin-Americans, who demanded sufficient credits to make codification efforts permanent, thus reversing the decision of the assembly yesterday that the funds which had been requested were not available.

In addition to the declaring against the efforts to "blow sky" securities, Mr. Jewell lauded the bond salesman of America as having played an indirect but important part in post-war financial rehabilitation, attacked the so-called investment counselors and reviewed the work of the association under his administration. He will be succeeded in the presidency by Henry R. Hayes of New York City.

U.S. BANKERS DEBATE LAW ON SECURITIES

Seattle, Sept. 27.—Renewed opposition to proposed federal laws regulating the sale of securities was expressed by Piny Jewell of Boston, retiring president of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, in an address to-day before the organization's sixteenth annual convention here.

"There should be no misconception of our motives," he said. "No one will be greater gainers than those in the investment banking business by any reduction in the amount of unsound or fraudulent securities sold to the public. But we contend that with most of the states already with adequate specific laws, with the assistance of the postal authorities and our basic common law, if the authorities will function, nothing further is needed."

TWELVE HUNDRED AWAIT ORDER FOR PENSIONS

Two Thousand Five Hundred in British Columbia Receive Forms

Oldest Applicant is 107; Several Over Ninety

Vancouver, Sept. 27.—Although word has not yet been received that the Dominion Government has passed the order-in-council which will make old age pensions payable in British Columbia, the Workmen's Compensation Board has done a vast amount of preparatory work.

Out of 2,500 inquiries to whom forms have been sent, 1,250 have completed their applications.

Two of the applicants are more than 100 years old. The oldest is 107, another is 102 and a third is 97. There are several over 90. Nearly all the extremely aged applicants are men.

ROBUST OLD-TIMERS

The board has decided not to publish the names of applicants, but both of the centenarians are stated by officials to be active, robust men in possession of all their faculties.

It has been ascertained that there are 13,000 people seventy years of age and over resident in the Province and that six people reach that age every day. The average of all the applicants is seventy-four, at which age insurance statistics give an expectancy of four and a half years life. Several of those who have filled in application forms have already died.

Only about one-sixth of those who are seventy years old are expected to apply for and obtain pensions. Many of the others are ineligible by reason of lack of residence qualification or are in possession of adequate incomes.

Among the 1,250 applicants there are some 180 couples. Fully 30 per cent of the 700 male applicants were bachelors. Almost a similar proportion of the 500 women applicants were spinsters.

A fact which has caused no small number of the applicants trouble is that no Canadian-born applicant is able to produce a birth certificate for the reason that registration of births was not being done seventy years ago in this country. It will be twelve or fifteen years before Canadian applicants will be able to prove their birth by this form of evidence.

FAMILY BIBLES

Family Bibles by the score have been produced at the board's offices. Marriage certificates giving the applicant's age at the time of his marriage are being accepted. In other cases son or daughter whose age is anywhere from fifty up is fairly reliable evidence that the parent is seventy or more.

Hugh Gilmour, one of the members of the board who has lived in British Columbia for forty-four years, is being placed in an awkward position almost daily through applicants asking him to certify to their having resided in the Province for twenty years or more.

But Commissioner Gilmour views the matter differently.

"I don't like the idea of sitting on the bench and passing on my own evidence," he explained. "Usually, however, when I know one of these old-timers I know somebody else who knows him. If it came to a hard case where I knew there was nobody else to be found I suppose I'd give the certificate rather than see anybody deprived of a pension."

RIVERS AND THE SOIL

HOW IS THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER TO be controlled, to be held to its course, to be prevented from overflowing its banks? This is one of the great problems confronting the people of the United States at the present time. What happened some months ago is fresh in the public mind and we are now told that that great flood was "one of the most gigantic defeats engineering science has ever suffered."

Man has battled with Nature in the Mississippi Valley for many years, hundreds of millions of dollars have been spent in elaborate works designed to keep the great waterway in order, but Nature has triumphed because she has not had a fair deal. Expedients have been resorted to and root causes largely have gone unconsidered. The time now has come for a change of plan and the president of the American Tree Association, Mr. Charles L. Pack, has outlined a solution for the problem the adoption of which should spare posterity the horrors through which so many people went some months ago. Here is his plan:

1. Restoration to forest conditions of all those portions of land suited for practical forest growing that are to-day destructively and wastefully washed away through lack of trees.
2. The application of the very best engineering technique available for the building of levees, storage dams, spillways, or, if need be, a combination of all these.
3. Correction and regulation of the destructive grazing which causes millions of acres east of the Rocky Mountains to erode and flow away.

In non-technical language Mr. Pack has told the people of the republic that they have taken the trees out of the soil and destroyed other growth to such an extent that it has become altogether too weak to hold the moisture which eventually finds its way into the Mississippi. He says more trees must be put in so that these areas may perform their proper functions as watersheds, that there must be less wasteful grazing, and, generally, that plans must be developed that will restore to the soil that quality of resistance which is represented by Nature's equal balance between land and water. It may not be possible to give a complete guarantee of safety when this method has been followed out to the full; but he suggests that the natural safeguard is necessary if the works of man are not to totter under the greater force that otherwise would be let loose from time to time. Indeed, if the reforestation process should not be carried out, who knows that in time the Mississippi might not become a great inland sea?

Nor is this problem peculiar to the United States. We in Canada are taking our trees out of the soil at an alarming rate and a time may come when the Fraser, the two Thompsons, the Columbia, the Skeena, and the Athabasca may swell to dangerous proportions through the erosive process which too heavy a demand on Nature produces. Every country which does not follow an adequate policy of reforestation exposes itself to the same dangers. Nature will give only so much without return. Beyond that she exacts payment.

AN INDUSTRIAL SURVEY

DR. TOLMIE HAS PUBLICLY DE-clared that he does not propose to tell the people of this Province what the policy of his party is because he is afraid the Government will steal his thunder and do him out of the credit. All he will say just now is that he is in favor of an industrial survey in order that the present policy of what he calls "muddling through" may be brought to an end. In other words, the citizens of British Columbia have been told that they can whistle for the Conservative Party's policy until Dr. Tolmie has had time to discover a piece of progressive legislation that the Liberals may have failed to get on the statute books—a job that obviously is baffling him and his lieutenants.

The morning paper, however, seems elated over this idea of an industrial survey. Nor is it surprising. It is the first suggestion that has come from the party's leader in all the months that have elapsed since the memorable convention at Kamloops. So enthusiastic is The Colonist that it says "Dr. Tolmie greatly makes a public address in which he does not advance some constructive thought and indicate a line of policy which would be beneficial to British Columbia." And it sees in "this practice" what is "an essential quality of leadership." In fact it looks as if it has said to itself, "at last the Doctor has said something that we can call a policy and hang on to it while he is thinking up something else."

The Tolmie industrial survey, however, is to be undertaken to put an end to "muddling through," or, as The Colonist puts it, to replace "peculiarly haphazard" methods in relation to industrial development. The general charge which the morning paper makes and to which the leader of the Conservative Party subscribes is that the Government has failed in all the lines of industrial effort. Let us study the facts and leave Dr. Tolmie and The Colonist's familiar generalizations out of the reckoning. Since 1916 agricultural production has increased 121 per cent.; lumbering 138.7 per cent.; water-borne export of lumber in the five-year period of 1922-1926 as against 1912-1916, 984 per cent.; log scale in the same comparative period 111 per cent.; value of forest production 159 per cent.; value of pulp production 368 per cent.; mining production in the ten-year period increased 58.9 per cent.; fishing 88.95 per cent.; and the total production of the basic industries of the Province in 1926 reveals an increase over that of 1916 of no less than $126,180,263, or 101.3 per cent.

Take the number of industrial firms in British Columbia. In 1919 there were 5,301. In 1923 this had grown to 6,524, and by June 24 of this year to 8,058, an increase over the 1919 total of 52 per cent. Another reflection of progress is seen in the number of companies incorporated. In 1916 the total was 438; in 1926 it grew to 700, an increase of 60 per cent. Capitalization increased by 184.2 per cent. Dr. Tolmie tells us that capital steers clear of the Province because it is afraid of the Government's policies. But he knows, and The Colonist knows also, that an industrial payroll of $78,000,000 in 1917 could not have grown to $175,000,000 in 1926 if the policies evolved for the promotion of industrial development had been haphazard. If Dr. Tolmie really wants to know what is being done to promote industrial development, and would like to get a stack of detailed and reliable information in this regard, he could satisfy himself by calling at the Department of Industries.

285 MILES AN HOUR

WHEN FRANCE WON THE SCHNEI-der Cup race for seaplanes at Monaco in 1913 it was not necessary for the winning pilot to travel more than about forty-five miles an hour. Six years afterwards 124 miles an hour was necessary; seven years after that the clip had to be increased to nearly 247 miles an hour. Great Britain's entry at yesterday's event in Italy took the premier place by flitting through the air at an average of 285 miles an hour, with one lap at 289.

There may be no economic value at all in a small machine like that which Flights Lieutenant Webster flew to victory yesterday. It was specially constructed so that the pilot would just fit into his seat and no more. But his accomplishment illustrates in the most remarkable manner the progress which has been made in the last ten years, not alone in the development of engine perfection, but in the general construction of the whole machine. A speed of nearly five miles a minute almost takes your breath away to think of it.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE GALT—A FAMOUS CANADIAN FAMILY
From The Montreal Gazette

In a series of articles in Saturday Night, Mr. Lawrence Burpee describes the character and achievements of three generations of Galt—John Galt, novelist and colonizer; Alexander Galt, financier and Father of Confederation; Elliott Galt, who inherited both the keen interest of his grandfather in land settlement and the genius of his father for finance.

Few Canadians perhaps realize how much this country owes to the Galt. Mr. Burpee has picked out three members of the family, and tells us something about their part in the upbuilding of Canada. But the story, impressive though it is, by no means exhausts the record of the Galt on this side of the Atlantic. Sir Thomas Galt, a son of John Galt, after a brilliant career at the Bar was appointed to the Bench in 1869, and rose to the office of chief justice of the court of common pleas of Ontario. His son, Alexander C. Galt, is to-day a judge of the court of King's Bench of Manitoba. Another son, George F. Galt of Winnipeg is president of one of the most important business concerns in the West, a director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and a member of the advisory committee of the Hudson's Bay Company.

The eldest son of the novelist left a son who is now the highly respected postmaster of Goderich, one of the towns founded by his grandfather. John Galt, a son of Sir Alexander Galt, has been president of the Union Bank and a director of many companies of the first rank. And to extend the record into the fourth generation, it is worth noting that Robert Grant, a grandson of Sir Alexander Galt, is a partner of Lee, Higginson and Company, a director of Barclay's bank, and a director of The London Times. He has inherited to a remarkable extent the financial ability of the Dominion's first minister of finance.

PAULINE JUSTIFIES B.C. LONDON HOUSE

Whole Cost of Valuable Publicity Only $8,250 a Year

New Westminster, Sept. 27.—British Columbia House, its functions and influence in attracting capital and the right kind of emigrant to the Province, was the theme of an address by F. A. Pauline, Agent-General of British Columbia in London, at a luncheon meeting of the Board of Trade yesterday. The advisability of retaining our office in London has been questioned within the past twelve months," began Mr. Pauline. He declared emphatically that to part with British Columbia House would be the greatest mistake the people of the Province could make. The position of the building, in Regent Street, was ideal, said the speaker. They had let all over to the Province, and their income from this source was such that the whole cost of the agency to the province was only $8,250 a year. Set in publicity alone, the building was more than worth the money, he said. One of the most important duties was to aid and assist in the province. During April, May and June this year, 4,071 persons had settled in British Columbia, nearly all going on the land, he said.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

To the Editor:—The Victoria City Board of School Trustees are to be complimented upon their decision recently brought into effect in our public schools, namely, the additions to the curriculum in the sixth and seventh grades of French and Latin. This new departure may not appear so important to a large percentage of the taxpayers and parents of the city, but when one realizes that all the courses of study—with the exception of one—provided at the Victoria High School contains one or both of the above languages one will see the force and need of the change.

It appeals, particularly to the writer, as being a step forward in the right direction, as I am greatly in favor of the bringing into full effect the Junior or Middle High School, and no doubt the school trustees are greatly exercised in this direction. According to the Vancouver newspapers that city has acted as pace-maker in the adoption of this development by opening two new buildings as Junior High Schools with a seating capacity of some 2,200 students. Of course we must not expect to be on a par with Vancouver in this direction, as population and circumstances are entirely different, but nevertheless a start has been made and I understand it is the forerunner of several improvements as suggested by the Survey of Schools, B.C., 1926.

Now that we are on the subject of schools and schooling I would like to point out what appears to me as a very badly arranged and unbusiness-like method or procedure. That is, the free-for-all tussle the parents and students have to go through to purchase their school books and accessories at the opening of the Fall term. The writer would judge that sixty-five or seventy per cent of the school books, etc., are purchased on the first and second days of the school opening and the other thirty or thirty-five per cent purchased during the next few days. The rush and push occasioned on the first two days lends itself to under and overcharging by the clerks, although not intentional, and wrong books, etc., which surely is not welcomed by the dealers. Cannot the Provincial School Board or the City School Board devise some simple system whereby a parent or student would know which particular books and accessories will be required in the grade the student is entering. Thanking you once again for your courtesy in permitting the above letter in your columns.

PROFESSOR FARR IS CLUBMEN'S SPEAKER

Addresses Knights of Round Table on Changing Tides of Business

Business moves constantly up and down, deviating in both directions from the mean line of normal conditions, declared Professor E. S. Farr of Victoria College when addressing the Knights of the Round Table at that organization's weekly meeting at the Empress Hotel last night. Roger Babson held, he said, that business moved in a circular trend covering a range of time. He agreed with the economist, said Mr. Farr.

In this course the following conditions succeeded one another, starting with increasing money rates and declining stock prices, lower commodity and finally lower real estate prices. Low money rates followed, increasing bond prices, increasing stock prices, increasing commodity prices and finally increasing real estate prices. He did not know that these conditions were exactly true in order as named to-day. Peak prices came with the great wars in the world since 1800, Mr. Farr stated. A period of prosperity was generally followed by a decline and the situations brought about by high wages, extended credits and so on, were quite natural. Sometimes the recovery was slow, for often the slump developed into a panic, and the public lost trust in the banks, Mr. Farr went on.

Touching upon the evil effects of these fluctuations, Mr. Farr said that could expansion and depression be eliminated there would be little trouble, little loss and much gain. Applying himself to the question of remedy, Mr. Farr thought that the good effects which followed the creation of the Federal Reserve Board in the United States taught the world a lesson. Credits were stabilized by a curbing of the expansion of credit. Federal Reserve prevented panic in the United States both in 1920 and in 1924. Discussion followed the address of Mr. Farr, following which a hearty vote of thanks was extended to the speaker. At this dinner, the members and the guests enjoyed fish caught by some of their number, and appetizers cooked by the hotel kitchen for the occasion.

John S. Crate Dies While on Business Trip to Toronto

Toronto, Sept. 27.—John S. Crate, managing editor of The Ottawa Journal, died suddenly here last night. Death is ascribed to embolism or heart failure. Mr. Crate was 54 years of age, and was not thought to be in any danger. He was talking to a friend about his family when he died. Mr. Crate came here Sunday night from Ottawa to attend a meeting of the Ontario members of the Canadian Press Association, but was taken ill on arrival and was under medical care during the day. Well known Canadian newspaperman, he was cable editor of The Toronto Globe for some years and later was with both The Toronto News and Toronto Star, and then with The Montreal Star.

GLASGOW LABOR M.P. OFFERS RESIGNATION

John Wheatley Has Represented Shettleston Since 1922

Glasgow, Sept. 27 (Canadian Press Cable).—It is understood that John Wheatley, Labor M.P. for the Shettleston Division of Glasgow, Minister of Health in the late Labor Government, has offered his resignation to the local Labor caucus. "This intimation is especially interesting in view of the fact that at one time John Wheatley was considered a possible successor to J. Ramsey MacDonald, former Premier, as leader of the Labor party. Mr. Wheatley, who is generally regarded as holding advanced Socialist views, has represented the Shettleston Division of Glasgow in the Commons since 1922.

FORMER PREMIER OF ONTARIO AND MISS MACPAIL CLASH

Toronto, Sept. 27.—The prediction of a battle royal at the U.F.O. convention in December was made by both E. C. Drury, former Premier of Ontario, and Miss A. MacPail, M.P., today, discussing an editorial in The Montreal Gazette which claims that the U.F.O. is dead, and that the lady U.F.O. member is the star witness at the inquest. To-day Miss MacPail stated that Mr. Drury would not find the same courtesy, sympathy and support of the U.F.O. convention this year. In reply Mr. Drury said that "There is going to be a pretty fight," and that "As a farmer I do not propose to be put out of the U.F.O. by Miss MacPail or her organization."

Moody Forecasts Lower Interest Rates This Fall

Moody's Weekly Review of Financial Conditions in its current issue says in part:

"Practically the main point to the controversy over discount rates appears to be the feeling in some quarters that interest rates were forced down artificially somewhat below the level warranted by supply and demand. Yes, we may feel assured that money will remain cheap during the autumn and that the open question is just how cheap."

"Call rates under these peculiar circumstances appear to have unusual significance; for any material sustained rise therein would presumably denote a flow of capital to the interior. Brokers' loans consist, in an unusual degree, of capital from that source; and such a flow, if amounting to much, would doubtless cause reactions in the stock market.

"The supporting factor for the existing level of stock prices evidently is cheap money, and if the interest rates should harden a little we might get a horizontal market this autumn, while if they should harden much we might get real reactions. These possibilities are worth watching not in fear, but rather in the hope of profiting by developments."

4 out of 5 start too late

Among the people you see today, four out of five past forty (and many younger) are victims of Pyorrhea—simply because they started too late to protect teeth and gums.

Pyorrhea starts with tender, bleeding gums. Unchecked, it undermines youth and health and often results in loss of teeth, neuritis, ulcers, rheumatism or other serious diseases.

But have no fear. If you start in time, you can prevent or check the inroads of Pyorrhea. See your dentist at least twice a year. And start using Forhan's for the gums. This dentifrice thwarts Pyorrhea or checks it. It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., a recognized specialist in Pyorrhea.

Forhan's firms the gums, keeps them healthy. It protects teeth and keeps them white.

Don't gamble with health! Start the Forhan morning-and-night habit, now. Teach your children to use it, too, as health-insurance. Play safe. Get a tube today. At all drug stores, 35c and 60c.

WEALTHY NEW YORK GILBERT MISSING

Fear Felt For R. H. Reynolds
One of Heirs to $50,000,000 Fortune

New York, Sept. 27.—The New York Times says that Richard H. Reynolds, president of Reynolds Airways, Inc., of Winston-Salem, N.C., oldest son of the late founder of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company and one of the five heirs of a fortune estimated at $50,000,000, disappeared here eleven days ago.

The unsuccessful efforts of relatives, friends and private detectives to find him have aroused the fear that he has met either with an accident or with foul play from persons who might have known that he had several thousands of dollars in cash with him.

Mr. Reynolds, who is twenty-one years of age, was last seen in New York on September 16 when he left a night club in West Fifty-first Street with a young woman whom he was escorting to Grand Central Station.

The woman reached St. Louis alone and has since returned to New York. Several hours later a yellow automobile owned by young Reynolds was found overturned in the water of Chicken Point, L.I. No one was found near the car.

ITAL TO-DAY GREETED ROMANO MUSSOLINI

Fourth Child Born to Wife of Premier at Villa in Rome

Rome, Sept. 27.—Donna Rachele Mussolini, wife of the Italian premier, gave birth to a son to-day at her home, the Villa Carpena, near Forli.

The boy will be baptised Romano tomorrow at a ceremony at the church at Carpena. Mother and child are both doing well.

Premier Mussolini arrived at Carpena yesterday in anticipation of the event. They have three other children, Edda, seventeen; Vittorio, eleven; and Bruno, eight.

Mussolini is a strong antagonist of "race suicide" and has expressed himself forcefully on this point. Addressing the Chamber of Deputies last May he asserted that population was one of the most important signs of a nation's greatness.

Deplored the fall in the Italian birth rate in some provinces and the increase in urbanism, he said: "If we diminish the empire will not be made, and if we diminish we will become a province."

Decision to the name of the new arrival in the Mussolini family was made a few days ago, when the premier let it be known that the child, if a boy, would be called Romano, and if a girl, Rachele.

Mussolini, at one time, had suggested that money might be raised for social work among mothers by taxing childless marriages.

Viscountess Hardinge and her daughter, the Hon. Ruby Hardinge, of London, England, together with Lady Hardinge's son, Capt. the Viscount Hardinge of the vice-regal staff at Buckingham Palace, are expected in Victoria on Friday on a visit to Government House. They will be accompanied from the interior by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Macdonald, who have been spending a few days at Invermere. In the party arriving in Victoria will also be Capt. the Hon. Inigo Freeman-Thomas and Mrs. Freeman-Thomas, Lord and Lady Willingdon, and who will be the guests of Mrs. Dunsmyth at Hatley Park during their stay in Victoria.

Miss Helen Fox returned home yesterday after visiting Miss Joan Finlayson in Vancouver.

Miss Isobel Hedley went over to Vancouver Sunday to resume her studies at the University.

Mrs. Russell Pender of Prince Rupert is visiting in Victoria and is a guest at the Balmoral Hotel.

Mrs. H. W. Eve left yesterday for Vancouver where she will stay for a few days as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Nevin.

Mr. W. G. Ross of Tientsin, North China, has arrived in Victoria on a visit to his brother, Mr. R. C. Ross, the Uplands.

Mrs. H. J. Schramm, Esquimalt Road, who has been spending several months visiting in England and France, returned to Victoria last week.

Mrs. D. R. Gifford of Vancouver, who has been spending a few days in Victoria, has returned to her home on the mainland.

Mrs. and Mrs. Alex. Scott, St. James Street, Oak Bay, left on Saturday for Montreal, where they will spend several weeks.

Mrs. George Phillips, of the Naval Yard, Esquimalt, went over to Vancouver yesterday on a visit to Mrs. Edward Mahon.

Miss Christina Dobbin of Quilicum, who has been attending the Victoria College, has left for Toronto where she will complete her education at the University of Toronto.

Mrs. Smallwood and Miss Jessie Bunn, Moss Street, have returned to their home in Victoria from Portland where they have been spending a short time as the guests of friends.

The members of the Alumnae Association of St. Joseph's Hospital, of which Mrs. Harry Beach, 231 St. Andrew's Street, is the secretary, will meet for their weekly sewing meeting.

Mr. Roger Wilson, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson, The Uplands, left on Sunday for Vancouver, where he will enter the University of British Columbia.

Miss Inez Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Mitchell, has left for Vancouver, where she will resume her studies at the University of British Columbia.

Mr. Lionel H. Laing left yesterday for Vancouver to take up his third year at the University, after spending a holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Laing, Stanley Avenue.

Mrs. A. B. Macdonald of Vancouver, who has been visiting in Victoria for a short time as the guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lane Holmes, Beach Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Sehl, Wark Street, who have been spending some time at Cumberland, with their daughter, Miss Florence Sehl, returned to their home in Victoria on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hunter, Government Street, and Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Hunter, Cook Street, have returned to Victoria from Quilicum, where they have been spending the last week.

Miss Gladys Thorpe, who has been spending holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Thorpe, Quadra Street, left yesterday for Longview, Washington, to resume her duties as physical director of the women's department of the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Yarrow and children will leave Victoria on Friday for London, England. Mr. Yarrow expects to return to Victoria before Christmas, but Mrs. Yarrow will remain in England for the winter months.

The leaflet giving correct menus for the baby from six weeks to six years will be mailed to any mother who sends a self-addressed stamped envelope with a request for it.

ALFRED NOYES, POET, MARRIES WIDOW

London, Sept. 27.—Alfred Noyes, the poet, was married to Mrs. Weid-Blundell of Ipswich early to-day at the Brompton Oratory. Only a few intimates were present. Mrs. Weid-Blundell is the widow of Richard Weid-Blundell of Ince Blundell Hall, Lancashire.

The guests of the Aberdeen Hotel gave a dance on Saturday evening. Noyes' orchestra provided the music and an enjoyable evening was spent.

TO HOLD ANNUAL POUND PARTY.

The W.C.T.U. Home on Ida Street, which for many years has been a haven for unfortunate girls, will hold its annual pound party on Thursday, September 29, when it is hoped the many friends of the institution will show their sympathy with its work in practical fashion. The home has been responsible for helping many lame dogs over stiles, many a girl receiving a kindly helping hand just when she most needed it. As in previous years, the ladies' committee will serve tea on Thursday afternoon and visitors will have the opportunity of inspecting the home.

Viscountess Hardinge and her daughter, the Hon. Ruby Hardinge, of London, England, together with Lady Hardinge's son, Capt. the Viscount Hardinge of the vice-regal staff at Buckingham Palace, are expected in Victoria on Friday on a visit to Government House. They will be accompanied from the interior by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Macdonald, who have been spending a few days at Invermere. In the party arriving in Victoria will also be Capt. the Hon. Inigo Freeman-Thomas and Mrs. Freeman-Thomas, Lord and Lady Willingdon, and who will be the guests of Mrs. Dunsmyth at Hatley Park during their stay in Victoria.

Miss Helen Fox returned home yesterday after visiting Miss Joan Finlayson in Vancouver.

Miss Isobel Hedley went over to Vancouver Sunday to resume her studies at the University.

Mrs. Russell Pender of Prince Rupert is visiting in Victoria and is a guest at the Balmoral Hotel.

Mrs. H. W. Eve left yesterday for Vancouver where she will stay for a few days as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Nevin.

Mr. W. G. Ross of Tientsin, North China, has arrived in Victoria on a visit to his brother, Mr. R. C. Ross, the Uplands.

Mrs. H. J. Schramm, Esquimalt Road, who has been spending several months visiting in England and France, returned to Victoria last week.

Mrs. D. R. Gifford of Vancouver, who has been spending a few days in Victoria, has returned to her home on the mainland.

Mrs. and Mrs. Alex. Scott, St. James Street, Oak Bay, left on Saturday for Montreal, where they will spend several weeks.

Mrs. George Phillips, of the Naval Yard, Esquimalt, went over to Vancouver yesterday on a visit to Mrs. Edward Mahon.

Miss Christina Dobbin of Quilicum, who has been attending the Victoria College, has left for Toronto where she will complete her education at the University of Toronto.

Mrs. Smallwood and Miss Jessie Bunn, Moss Street, have returned to their home in Victoria from Portland where they have been spending a short time as the guests of friends.

The members of the Alumnae Association of St. Joseph's Hospital, of which Mrs. Harry Beach, 231 St. Andrew's Street, is the secretary, will meet for their weekly sewing meeting.

Mr. Roger Wilson, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson, The Uplands, left on Sunday for Vancouver, where he will enter the University of British Columbia.

Miss Inez Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Mitchell, has left for Vancouver, where she will resume her studies at the University of British Columbia.

Mr. Lionel H. Laing left yesterday for Vancouver to take up his third year at the University, after spending a holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Laing, Stanley Avenue.

Mrs. A. B. Macdonald of Vancouver, who has been visiting in Victoria for a short time as the guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lane Holmes, Beach Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Sehl, Wark Street, who have been spending some time at Cumberland, with their daughter, Miss Florence Sehl, returned to their home in Victoria on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hunter, Government Street, and Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Hunter, Cook Street, have returned to Victoria from Quilicum, where they have been spending the last week.

Miss Gladys Thorpe, who has been spending holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Thorpe, Quadra Street, left yesterday for Longview, Washington, to resume her duties as physical director of the women's department of the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Yarrow and children will leave Victoria on Friday for London, England. Mr. Yarrow expects to return to Victoria before Christmas, but Mrs. Yarrow will remain in England for the winter months.

SHE PUTS THE MARRIAGE FIRST!

How Estelle Taylor Solves the "Marriage-vs.-Career" Problem

HE MEANS MORE TO HER—

—THAN HER CAREER DOES

Jack Dempsey poses with Tex Rickard's baby in his arms

By ALLEN SUMNER

(Copyright, 1927)

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 27.—"Now, please just reach for the rolls and olives and things if I rattle on so fast about Jack that I forget my manners, and I'll tell you everything."

So admonished the curly-headed pugle wife of the world's greatest box office sport attraction with whom I dined a night or so ago.

LOTS OF TALKING

Over the lamb chops and spinach and bran muffins especially ordered by the nurse in constant attendance upon the fighter's wife, we talked for hours about—

Well, about the one dissension the Dempsey home knows—Estelle's refusal to spend Jack's money—Estelle's refusal to let her husband handle a sensitive husband who, at thirty-two, almost believes he is "a veteran."

Estelle Taylor

About how annoying it sometimes is to be the wife of so famous a man when you want to buy dollar pearl beads.

About Jack's "perfectly wonderful" way of firing the cook, and how Estelle can hardly wait to get back home and have Jack fire one she hasn't the nerve to fire herself.

About Jack's insistence that his wife be a feminine woman, and how he never wants her to smoke or drink or wear her hair short.

About this thing called marriage, especially marriages of two "careerists," how it works and all that.

This was the theme that prolonged the chops and kept the ice cream and the swallow-tailed head waiter waiting longest.

"Isn't it dangerous," I asked Mrs. Jack Dempsey, "to be almost as good in your own profession as your husband is in his? Aren't you too-pooling all the 'marriage advisers' who say a husband must tower over his wife or he's restless?"

Estelle shook her curly brown head and laid down the chop fork to seize the question with her restless analytic mind.

When Estelle Dempsey gets an idea in her head and paws and mauls it over, one understands perfectly why some of his ring critics claim: why, moreover, he says to his carpers, "why shouldn't I listen to Estelle?" She learned how to make $2,000 a week for herself and some of you birds who laugh at me for listening make $50.

Beat it."

"But you see," said Estelle, "you see, Jack is so big in his line, which is a line that more people know and appreciate than any other line, that no matter how famous I might become I could never be his equal."

Estelle Taylor Dempsey's huge brown eyes snapped.

supreme that my biggest efforts would never make him look smaller—

"That's the secret of happiness in a marriage between two professional people—to have the man's job the biggest; at least, in a field considered bigger by more people than those who hail the wife's job."

"Jack has always been put first. That's why I've refused contracts that would tie me up for more years than he needed me I would be ready to go with him or wherever he was. He isn't interested in the details of how I manage this. He wants the results. And he's always had them."

Estelle Taylor Dempsey's huge brown eyes snapped.

A COSTLY MARRIAGE

"Many people have said that I used Jack as a stepping stone for my own

WINS AUTOMOBILE BUT HAS NO PLACE TO DRIVE A CAR

To win an automobile and have no place to run it is the unusual experience of A. P. Priestly, rancher of Alyanah, in the wild Neas River district.

To reach his ranch, Priestly must travel forty miles by boat up the river to territory where only pack-horse trails are found.

He journeyed to Vancouver, B.C., and purchased a ticket for the West Coast Exhibition of Manufacturers, which entitled him to one chance on an auto.

The piece of cardboard he drew bore the lucky number. Unable to use the automobile, Priestly is trying to convert it into cash.

ambitions—that I wanted the publicity he could give me. But on the contrary, my marriage has cost me more professionally than it ever gave me. It cost me a contract at the time of my marriage. It has handicapped me in making them since."

"When I was just Estelle Taylor, responsible to no one but myself, I could play any little role that gave me rent and grocery-store money. Now that I'm Mrs. Jack Dempsey I can't take worth while roles. I can't have people who know Jack laughing at some scrubby little part they see me play."

"I'm a born bargainer. I adore shopping—so does Jack. But if we stop to look in a window the crowds collect to see what it is. And if I ask the price of anything they seem to think I'm crazy."

(Here at this point we have some inside dope on the Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey finances.)

"Jack sometimes says I take all the heart out of him and make it hard for him to see any point in making big money because I won't spend it. Perhaps it's because I've earned my own way ever since I was a child; but I've never been able to spend his money."

"I let him keep up the house, but that's all. Except presents, of course. Some day, when I stop working and we have our family, he'll have all the spending on me he wants."

"He's so sensitive to what they say. He'll hear himself called 'a veteran,' or read something about his legs being gone, and he'll say, 'They're right. Estelle, I'm getting to be an old man.' And he looks so gloomy I nearly die laughing at the old man of thirty-two."

Mrs. Jack Dempsey took me on a privately conducted tour of the apartment where she'll be shortly at 8 p.m. on the evening of September 22, 1927. She'll be under a peach silk coverlet on a green lacquer bed, with her hair curled up until someone calls to tell her Jack's the winner.

Estelle Dempsey is listing jobs for Mr. William Harrison Dempsey to do when they get home. The servants are to add to the home manager, the special dishes he must cook, and the clothes he must keep busy.

"I hate this idea that he married a nobody and must support her folks," says Estelle. "That was my party. I look after my people just as he looks after his. Only he gave his mother a $75,000 home—and I gave mine a $10,000 one—but I did it myself."

Mrs. Jack Dempsey may or may not be the Dempsey family boss, as some critics have said, but I'm inclined to think any man, even an ex-champion, could do worse than keep in step with a mind like hers.

showing at some 145 theatres. Beginning at the root of the difficulty they have decided that their new products must be sufficiently lively, inspiring, and diverse to satisfy the most capricious fan.

Matters were undoubtedly brought to a head in no small measure as the result of certain astute native's return from America with an offer of nearly $3,000,000 for the purchase of his chain of sixty cinema theatres.

The native movie fans were then still further flattered by the project set on foot by a British combine through Sir Chimanlal Setalvad, vice-chancellor of Bombay University, for the organization of an Imperial Indo-British film combine capitalized at £1,000,000.

Estelle Dempsey is listing jobs for Mr. William Harrison Dempsey to do when they get home. The servants are to add to the home manager, the special dishes he must cook, and the clothes he must keep busy.

"I hate this idea that he married a nobody and must support her folks," says Estelle. "That was my party. I look after my people just as he looks after his. Only he gave his mother a $75,000 home—and I gave mine a $10,000 one—but I did it myself."

Mrs. Jack Dempsey may or may not be the Dempsey family boss, as some critics have said, but I'm inclined to think any man, even an ex-champion, could do worse than keep in step with a mind like hers.

British magnates, the Hindus, taking strength from the nationalist movement, have decided that there is no other solution but to go back to their own cinema industry.

The fear of "Americanization," however, will not prevent the native Goldwyns, Inces, and Foxes from building up their industry on the lines to successfully demonstrated across the Atlantic, and the Indian Hollywood has already made its appearance.

Stars, male and female, are the order of the day, and already the fans are begging autographs from Vakil, the combined Harold Lloyd and Charlie Chaplin of India, as well as Zebeida, the beautiful Moslem girl from Kashmir. Already "fabulous salaries" have made their appearance, one gilded star commanding the staggering salary of Rs. 1,000 ($200) per month.

Indian cinemas will not be hampered by any such narrow restraints as nationality, declare the leaders, and there has been nothing to prevent Ruby Myers from passing from Kolinor to the Imperial Film Company, where a later pay envelope awaits her. An English girl from Calcutta has just made her debut with Kolinor and may become one of the country's greatest stars.

RECRUIT SCREEN ACTRESSES

The preliminary stages of recruiting feminine talent from the ranks of public singing and dancing girls have now been passed and it is declared educated and cultured girls from the better classes are dying to become the Pola Negris and Norma Talmages of their people.

The earlier use of boys to play feminine parts on the screen was doomed to early failure. Moreover, the youths saw no reason why they should not become Indian Valentines and swarthy Douglas Fairbankses.

As an indication that they are in dead earnest about the nationalization of their cinema, a crowd of Muslims stormed the house of the manager of a Delhi cinema not long ago, loudly demanding the withdrawal of a picture which they believed reflected upon their religion. The film was ultimately withdrawn and banned by the authorities.

To make India's Hollywood complete in every way its natives have decided that they must lead the spicy existence so romantically associated with their contemporaries across the ocean. Netherland Hill has become the Oriental Beverly Hills and scores of luxurious hotels have sprung up in which an occasional impromptu revolver or gun drama is considered quite the thing, thus conclusively demonstrating that the Indian cinema has successfully fought the battle against Americanization.

LAWYERS ADVERTISE

Paris, Sept. 27.—For many years lawyers in France have been forbidden to advertise their business in any way. Professional ethics made the practice undignified. But business has been poor lately and now the governing committee of the Bar Association has authorized attorneys to display small placards bearing their names and profession.

There were no death sentences in Scotland last year, according to the report of the prison commissioners just issued.

ELECTRIFIED FARMS SHOW BIG GAIN

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 27.—Nearly $30,000 farms in twenty-seven states are now using electric service.

This estimate is made by the rural service committee of the National Electric Light Association based on surveys and campaigns conducted throughout the country.

In 1924, the same twenty-seven states showed only 122,000 farms with electricity. By the first of this year this number had increased to 228,000.

The latest feature undertaken to enhance electric use of farms is that advanced by the state experiment station of Purdue University, here. The school carried and demonstrated such electrical equipment as milking machines, cream separator, poultry house lighting system, incubator, water supply system and odd job motors for use in turning grinders, running churns, fanning mills, washing machines and even wood saws.

In addition, the demonstrators took along a model electric kitchen showing all modern household labor saving appliances.

A circular broadcast in the twenty-seven states informs farmers they perform any one of the following tasks:

Cook for two persons for one day. Do the farm family washing for one week.

Operate the milking machine one hour and twenty minutes. Separate 1,500 pounds of milk.

Heat a 100-egg incubator for two days. Pump 500 gallons of water.

Saw one and two-thirds cords of wood.

HE SWALLOWS DICE AND ESCAPES FINE

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 27.—When police descended upon a group of negroes closely grouped around a blanket upon which lay many bills, they thought they were breaking up a dice game. But there were no dice. They searched the men and the room but found nothing with which gambling might be done. The cases were thrown out of court when the defense attorney demanded that the dice be produced. Afterward a grinning negro approached the lawyer and said: "Boss, I swallowed them dice. We always get a little ones that's easy to swallow."

Police officials, informed, considered the installation of an X-ray machine.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN $100,000,000 OIL BUBBLE

Jacob Berman, alleged "$35,000,000 bright boy" in the wrecking of the $100,000,000 Julian Petroleum Corporation of Los Angeles, is shown as he pleaded not guilty to charges of felonies in connection with the overblow of vast quantities of stock. Berman (the right) is being released on $25,000 bail. Inset is S. C. Lewis, former president of the concern, who faces the same charges.

Science Finds Antitoxin To Combat Erysipelas

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

One of the diseases most feared by man is being brought under control gradually through the investigations of modern medicine.

In twenty-three years 15,277 cases of erysipelas have been seen in the Bellevue Hospital, New York. During that time all sorts of methods of treatment were used, many of them apparently of great service, but few of them actually proved to be of value in shortening the duration of the disease.

CUTTING THE TOLL

Following the discovery that the streptococcus associated with scarlet fever elaborated toxin and that an antitoxin during the same period poison, some discoveries were made relating to the streptococcus that causes erysipelas.

An antitoxin has been prepared which seems to have remarkable effects in controlling the disease. In a recent series of 151 cases, the length of stay of patients in the hospital treated by this method was reduced more than 83 per cent over the length of stay of patients treated by other methods.

Eighty-five and six-tenths per cent of cases of erysipelas of the face were cured in from three to seven days.

In a series of ninety-two cases of erysipelas of the face treated without the antitoxin during the same period in 1926 only 33 per cent were cured in from two to seven days; about 50 per cent required from eight to eighteen days.

BODY ATTACKS

In cases of erysipelas affecting the body, 60 per cent were cured in from three to seven days, 30 per cent in from eight to sixteen days, with a mortality of 10 per cent; of fifteen cases of erysipelas of the body treated without antitoxin during the corresponding period of 1926, 46.6 per cent were cured in from seven to fifteen days and 15.3 per cent in from twenty-five to fifty-eight days, the mortality being 40 per cent.

Unquestionably, therefore, the antitoxin treatment of erysipelas is a great advance for the control of this disease. Unfortunately, the use of the antitoxin has not been shown to confer immunity to erysipelas, but its effects in shortening the duration of the disease and in saving life constitute another of the striking discoveries of modern medicine for human health and safety.

INDIA ORGANIZES ITS OWN MOVIE CORPORATIONS NOW

Calcutta, Sept. 27.—Flowing white robes and rubber-tired spectacles may not harmonize in the general scheme of India, but they are certain to become more and more inseparable if the natives continue to thrill at the jazy aspects of modern life they are getting in their favorite American cinemas.

While British interests have been steadily issuing solemn warnings against the threatened American cinema domination, the dark skinned movie fans have been serenely going around the corner to their favorite motion picture theatre, where cowboys and skyscrapers flicker across the screen in a delicious delirium of excitement.

Meanwhile, certain progressive Hindus have decided that there is but one way to end the friendly battle for his majesty the movie fan's favor, and that is to coolly step in and claim it themselves.

Thus we have the huge Indian film combine organized during the last three months and comprising the seven major film producing companies: Kolinor, Excelsior, Souashtra, Hindusthan, Maharashtra, Taj Mahal, and the new and wonderfully equipped Sharada Film company.

FEAR UP 145 THEATRES

Fearing that if the golden chain of cinema theatres which both the Americans and English have been eagerly attempting to link up, was actually welded they would be left out in the cold, these Indian producers have arranged for the exclusive rights of

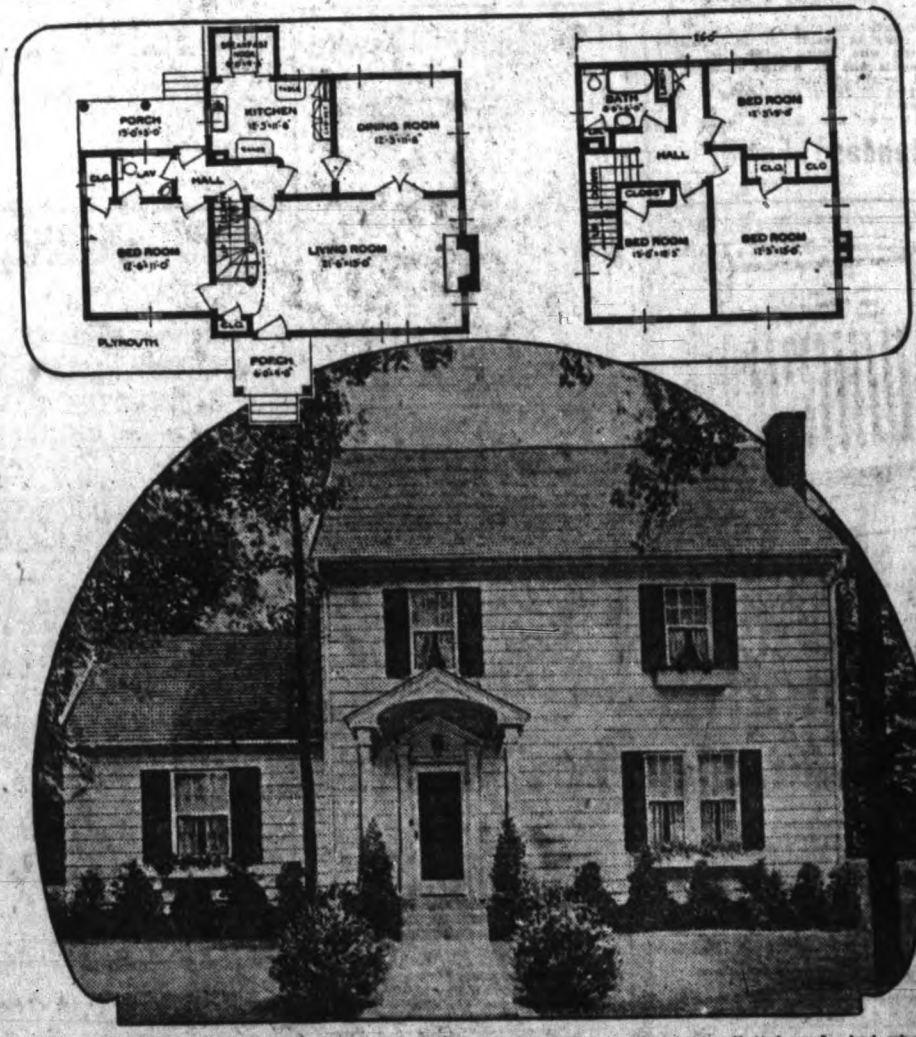

FISH HOOKS CURE FOR PICKPOCKETS

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 27.—Tony Augustine, of St. Joseph, is a boiler-maker. He is prosperous enough to travel abroad, but not so affluent but that he is careful of his money.

Tony had his pockets picked while he was in Warsaw, Poland, recently, and was greatly tried. So he went to a tailor and had him sew sixty fish hooks in the two pockets where he carried his money.

Leaving Warsaw for Bremen, Germany, two men followed Augustine and stole his slipper. Loud yells gave evidence that the thief carriers were at work and the entire pockets had to be cut from his clothing before the two men could be released. Tony stayed two days to prosecute them and was given a reward of $600.

COLONIAL GRACE WITHOUT THE EXPENSIVE FRILLS

A beauty, this small Colonial house! What man or woman would not be proud to call it home? And who can contend that its cost—varying with local prices of labor and materials from $4,500 to $6,000, according to locality, does not make it a rare bargain? "The Plymouth," as its designers have named it, is well worthy of serious consideration from all who intend answering that vernal urge of home building, as a glance at the floor plan will show.

Harry Donkin, a resident of Victoria for a number of years, died suddenly on Saturday at the residence of his brother, George Donkin, in Toronto. The late Mr. Donkin conducted a commission agency here subsequently carrying on a similar business in Vancouver, Japan and China, and later in California. He is survived by his widow and one brother, George.

GOOD CRITICISM ON U.S. NAVY

Washington, Sept. 27.—President Coolidge has found some good criticism in the recent magazine article of Rear Admiral Magruder, but does not agree with his conclusion that the navy is over-officered.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Dean F. Brudenell, No. 78072, Ex. 51st Battalion is requested to communicate with the secretary of Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, Box 415.

A bonny baby boy, two years old, who is described as the picture of health, with fair complexion, fair curly hair and brown eyes, is looking for a good home. Anyone interested in his adoption is asked to communicate with the Salvation Army at telephone No. 2078.

In a communication from Robert Porter & Sons Limited last night the City Council was advised that delay on the city's part had retarded a sale of land valued at $1,500. The letter suggested that the city would be held liable for the loss of sale. Legal advice on the matter was requested by the council before proceeding further.

A. E. Todd, industrial adviser to the city and Alderman H. C. Holmes were nominated as delegates to the eleventh annual convention of the Good Roads League, to be held at Vancouver October 17, by the executive of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau at the luncheon meeting held at noon today in the Chamber of Commerce cafe.

At the semi-monthly luncheon meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board to be held at the Chamber of Commerce cafe at 1230 p.m. to-morrow, the following business will come before the members: National Association convention reports; members' monthly reports, new scale of charges and monthly sales report.

At the public meeting of the Anti-Vivisection Society on Thursday evening in the Victoria Club, W. H. Stokes will present the opinions of H. O. Wells, who defends vivisection while O. J. Boulton will reply by reading the answer made to Mr. Wells by Bernard Shaw in opposition to the practice. Miss G. Strappell will contribute the musical programme. All persons interested in the question are invited to this meeting.

The paving of Belleville Street west from the C.P.R. dock corner and the widening of the street at the dock approach was recommended by the public works committee to the City Council last night and carried. The sum of $4,500 will be spread at the site in work to go as far as the money will permit. The improvement has been one long sought by traffic interests at the site, to avoid congestion at boat times.

The question of erasing the Sooke Lake timber holdings of the city on the watershed property ran into a second deadlock before the City Council last night and was tabled for a week. Varying opinion as to what should be done slowed up action on a request of the city water committee for first-hand authoritative data on what value could be placed on the timber and its bearing on the water collection at the site.

The investment of $14,398 in City of Victoria four and a half per cent bonds due 1952 to yield 5.15 per cent, through the Royal Financial Corporation, was authorized by the City Council last night on advice from its finance committee. The usual grant to the radio station, and a $300 allowance to the widow of a former city employee, carried without comment. A rebate of a sum equal to the taxes was voted. Chinese hospital on production of accounts.

Five aldermen representing Victoria at the Nanaimo convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities will also attend the prior session of the Good Roads League. The city will renew its subscription to the organization and go to the convention with the object of securing value for its effort. John Baxter, mayor's secretary, and M. F. Hunter, city clerk, were named delegates to the assembly of the Municipal Officers' Association, also to be held at Nanaimo. H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, will accompany the delegates to the Union party.

A private bill may be sought by Victoria at the next session of the Provincial Legislature, to make workable existing legislation dealing with municipal ownership of land upon default in extension schemes. The present legislation provides for the forfeiture of the property in default but does not give the city a secure foundation for its possession of the land as could be desired, it was stated. Alderman R. A. C. Stewart, chairman of the lands committee, explained the problem and assured council support for the suggested amendment to be asked of the House.

The various departments of the First Baptist Church will hold a grand rally Wednesday, September 28, commencing at 7:30 p.m. in the church hall. The programme will consist of a prayer meeting from 7:30 to 8:15, after which the members of the congregation and their friends will repair to the Sunday School auditorium where the committee in charge will present an attractive programme of games and music. The Women's Union will serve refreshments. As the rally will afford members and their friends an opportunity of meeting in social intercourse, it is anticipated that there will be a large attendance.

Protesting against the action of the council in deciding to deal further with John Moore, Bradford, England, mill operator as to the opening up here of a worsted mill plant, Alderman J. L. Mara read an extract from The Financial Post last night on "Fibrous Industries." Victoria could easily secure unfavorable notice by being too ready to subsidize industry, he stated, adding that he would agree to an offer of site and taxation exemption privileges to some extent if the money guarantee on bonds was deleted. The city was committed to nothing and he urged sent for Mr. Moore to give him a further chance of explaining his proposals, stated Mayor J. C. Pendray in reply.

Conference Opens on Wage Dispute of Railroad Engineers

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—Negotiations opened today for a settlement of the wage dispute between the Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railways and seven thousand engineers employed, attended by representatives of all parties.

Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, presided at the conference.

SETTLERS FROM STATES START FLOCKING INTO CANADIAN WEST

Winnipeg, Sept. 27.—"More settlers are coming from the United States to make new homes in Canada than in any year since 1920," said J. R. Ryan, traveling colonization agent from the St. Paul office of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in a newspaper interview here today.

"Personally," he said, "I have brought seventy families this season and have every reason to believe the total will be well over one hundred before the end of the year. On this trip I have been in Saskatchewan and Alberta with four parties from four different states. All, I believe, will come into Canada next year. All of these settlers have money, some a great deal but all enough to start farming.

"In the prairie provinces, while I have only spoken of my own experience, I know from inquiries and records that others in the same line of work are meeting with equal success. Judging from my experience, I expect 1928 will be even a better year and a large number of settlers will enter Western Canada from the United States."

Mr. Ryan is leaving for St. Paul tonight and will return in October with the largest party of the season.

DEFENDING CHAMP AND MEDALIST WIN IN VICTORIA GOLF

Miss Wilson and Miss Schwengers Have Easy Wins at Uplands To-day

Mrs. Parry Forced to Go Extra Hole With Mrs. C. E. Wilson to Win

Miss Dorothy Schwengers, the medalist, and Miss Marion Wilson, the defending champion, won their matches this morning in the first round of the women's golf championship of Victoria. The heavy rain of the early morning did not interfere with the women teeing off at the Uplands Golf Club. Both Miss Wilson and Miss Schwengers won their matches with ease.

Mrs. Walter Parry and Mrs. C. E. Wilson engaged in the closest match of the day, the former winning at the nineteenth hole.

The second round of the championship will be played to-morrow morning.

To-day's results were as follows:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

Miss Dorothy Schwengers defeated Miss Inez Carey, 6 and 5.
Mrs. Walter Parry defeated Mrs. C. E. Wilson at the nineteenth hole.
Mrs. Philbrick defeated Mrs. R. F. Johnson, 2 and 1.
Mrs. Jackson defeated Mrs. L. Leeming, 6 and 5.
Miss Hutchinson defeated Mrs. Boyd, 2 up.

F. S. Willing defeated Mrs. Geller, 6 and 6.
Miss Marion Wilson defeated Mrs. Tanner, 8 and 7.
Miss D. Case and Miss Moma Miller will play this afternoon.

SECOND FLIGHT

Mrs. Wilders won from Mrs. J. A. Rithet, by default.
Miss Ruth McBride defeated Mrs. K. Verley, 1 up.
Miss D. Case defeated Mrs. Barber-Stark, 2 up.
Mrs. M. Lawson defeated Mrs. H. P. Johnson, 4 and 3.

THIRD FLIGHT

The Mrs. E. H. Smith from Mrs. J. A. Richardson, by default.

NIGHT CLASSES ATTRACT INTEREST

Syllabus Includes a Large Number of Courses at Nominal Fees

W. H. Binns, Supervisor, Enrolling Names For Opening October 3

Enrollment for the courses of the night school classes held at the High School, at the Central Technical School, Yates Street, under the auspices of the City School Board, commencing October 3, is now proceeding at the offices of the board. W. H. Binns, supervisor of technical education for the city, will be at the board's offices every afternoon from 4 to 6, except Saturday, to see those desiring information about the classes.

The majority of the classes this year will be held on Monday and Thursday evenings with few exceptions. The night classes are a popular feature of the city's educational system, and this year the attendance will be heavier than usual. It is believed. The syllabus shows a wide range of subjects, nominal fees covering tuition over the period.

On Monday and Thursday continuation classes leading to High School entrance will be held for those who wish to complete a lower school education in preparation for special studies.

The commercial courses include a preliminary commercial course with commercial arithmetic, correspondence, and a choice of book-keeping, shorthand, and typewriting.

Book-keeping courses feature elementary and advanced studies with separate tuition. There are elementary and advanced courses in shorthand.

Typewriting, penmanship, and salesmanship studies are also arranged, the last named including a course in the fundamentals of business success.

In the Technical courses, to be held at the Central Technical School, Yates Street, woodwork, sheet metal draughting, art metal work, machine shop practice, engineering, machine construction, plane and solid geometry, design in advanced and elementary grades are open.

The engineering courses, to be held at the High School, will include mathematics, with arithmetic, algebra, geometry and trigonometry, gasoline engine, electric welding, machine construction, and advanced subjects.

There is also a building trade course, building construction and architectural drawing. Art courses, commercial design, lettering and show card writing, cartooning and caricature, drawing in light shade and color, pottery and design.

The domestic science courses will include the technique of the subject, with first and second year dress-making, millinery, home management, home design, cooking. Special day classes will be held in cooking and dressmaking. Languages, including elementary and

YOUNG GIRL STARS IN WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNAMENT IN EAST

Miss Kirkham, Montreal, 17 Years of Age, Defeats Experienced Player

Miss Mackenzie and Two Other Former Champions Win Their Matches To-day

Toronto, Sept. 27.—Three previous winners of the title were all successful in their first round matches in the Canadian ladies' closed golf tournament.

Miss Ada Mackenzie, defending champion, defeated Miss Effie Nesbitt, Hamilton, 4 and 3, while Miss Helen Page, Ottawa, won by default, and Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto, defeated Mrs. K. Fraser, Toronto, 7 and 5.

A surprise in the championship matches was the victory of Miss Margaret Kirkham, seventeen-year-old Montreal girl, over the experienced Mrs. R. W. Gouin Lock of Toronto, 4 and 3. Long straight drives gave the Montreal girl the match.

Another feature was Mrs. Maude Ross's victory over Miss Kate Robertson of Beaconsfield, the Ottawa golfer, taking the match 1 up.

Miss D. Case, Montreal, who tied with Miss Ada Mackenzie for leadership in the qualifying round, won from Mrs. E. E. Pith of Scarborough after a hard fight.

The Smith Sisters of Toronto, Maude and Cecil, put up a close exhibition, Miss Maude finally taking the match 1 up.

In the first flight, Mrs. Sydney Jones, Toronto, won by default from Mrs. C. F. Armstrong, Victoria, B.C.

Mrs. R. K. Bearist, Winnipeg, defeated Mrs. J. G. Gray, York Downs, 5 and 3.

Mrs. Douglas Laird, Winnipeg, defeated Mrs. H. H. Riddell, Scarborough, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Phillips, Oshawa, defeated Miss Margaret Lockhart, Roy, Montreal, at the twenty-sixth hole.

BABE RUTH CLOUTS ANOTHER HOMERUN

Bambino Only Two Short of His Record; Hits One Off Lefty Grove To-day

New York, Sept. 27.—Babe Ruth hoisted out his fifty-seventh homer off Pitching Grove of the Athletics in the sixth inning of New York's tussle with Philadelphia, to-day, the rap coming after two were out and the bases full.

The Babe is now only two homers behind his record 1921 year total of fifty-nine.

New York, Sept. 27.—Lou Gehrig hit his forty-sixth homer of the season in the fourth inning against the Athletics to-day, Pitches Quin being the victim. None was on base.

Tanney Given Great Welcome in New York

New York, Sept. 27.—Gene Tunney returned to New York to-day to receive a tumultuous home-town greeting from more than 1,000 enthusiasts at Grand Central Station.

It took a flying wedge of special policemen to keep the heavyweight champion from being rubbed off his feet by a wildly cheering throng.

SPINAL MENINGITIS

Oshawa, Ont., Sept. 27.—A case of cerebral spinal meningitis developed here yesterday and health officials are taking every precaution to prevent a spread of the disease.

The patient, who is a young man, aged twenty, will be removed to the isolation hospital of Toronto.

LEGIONNAIRE PARDONED

Paris, Sept. 27.—Bennett J. Doty, who enlisted in the French Foreign Legion under the name of Gilbert Claret, was court-martialed in Syria in August, 1926; being sentenced to eight years in prison, has been pardoned by the French Government.

CHANGE IN AIR STATION COMMAND

Flying Officers A. H. Hull and W. D. Van Vliet Exchange Places

Latter Will Carry Victoria's Airport Plans to Ottawa

Flying Officer A. H. Hull, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, who for the last two years has been an aviation instructor at Camp Borden, assumes command of the R.C. Air Station at Jericho Beach, replacing Flying Officer W. D. Van Vliet, who goes to Borden.

Mr. Hull served with the 4th Battalion and the Royal Air Force overseas, and on his return entered business at Nanaimo. In 1924 he joined the Royal Canadian Air Force, setting for a time in forestry and fishery patrol out of Prince Rupert.

Mr. Van Vliet came to Victoria recently to be shown over the locations suggested for the establishment of a public airport when the need arises. It is understood he will lay his report on the subject before the Department of Militia and Defence at Ottawa.

PROVINCE LEADS IN CARE FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Thos. Menzies Tells Kiwanians of Work to Save Children

Thomas Menzies, provincial superintendent of neglected children, to-day sketched for the Kiwanis Club the work being done in this Province by organizations interested in child work. Mr. Menzies declared that the cost of raising a child to maturity averages $6,000, a fact which was confident would surprise the average citizen.

There are now in this Province over 600 neglected children, placed in fifteen orphanages and institutions. The number is increasing, and Mr. Menzies stated that in five years, at the present rate of increase, the number will mount to 1,000 children.

The speaker gave a resume of legislation concerning child welfare, and told of experiences in his work and methods of getting in touch with cases needing attention.

Mr. Menzies quoted one instance where eleven children were found in one home, with a dead infant in a box, the parents being "too lazy to bury it."

Neglected children are brought before a magistrate, who commits them officially to the care of Children's Aid Societies, and Mr. Menzies, who are responsible until the child becomes eighteen years of age.

The cost of maintenance in private or public homes is now approaching $35,000 yearly, on a basis of $4 per week per child, and a yearly sum to the institutions. It costs $400 yearly to keep a child in an industrial school, and only $200 in a home for children, the Kiwanians were informed.

The speaker urged that it is good finance as well as humane to keep the children out of the industrial schools.

The policy to-day is to encourage the individuality of the children. No longer is uniform clothing or hair cutting permitted in the institutions.

Mr. Menzies emphatically asserted that British Columbia is far ahead of all other provinces in social legislation of this type, combatting statements to the contrary in most positive terms.

"Every case for Provincial intervention receives careful consideration, we do not saddle the Province with any expenses which can be avoided. The costs under the Infants Act amount to about $25,000 at present. We could spend $50,000 or $100,000, but why should we? All too often these charges are caused by laziness of the parents and a desire to avoid their duties to their offspring," declared Mr. Menzies, having shown that the operation of his office is designed to make good citizens of children who otherwise would become recruits to the criminal classes.

An attendance prize of ten gallons of Calpet gasoline, given by Lou Tweedie, was won by Patrick Corcoran of the Imperial Oil Company, the drawing arousing a chorus of jests and charges of collusion.

A group of tenor solos were sung by W. C. Fife, accompanied by Cecil Heaton.

BRITISH CONCERT MANAGER PASSES

Col. Mapleson, Well-known Figure in Music World, Dead in Lausanne

New York, Sept. 27.—Colonel Mapleson, British concert manager, died yesterday in Lausanne, Switzerland, his son, Arthur Mapleson, was advised to-day.

Born in London, February 17, 1851, Colonel Mapleson was educated at St. Mary's College and Bonn University, Germany. He was destined for the army, but preferred to follow the footsteps of his father, Colonel J. H. Mapleson, an internationally known impresario in the early days of opera, both here and in England.

For many years he was associated with his father in the management of Grand Opera in London and at various times the companies controlled by them featured singers such as Minnie Hauk, Trebbi, Gerster, Foll, Campanini and Sims Reeves.

Mr. Mapleson emphatically asserted that British Columbia is far ahead of all other provinces in social legislation of this type, combatting statements to the contrary in most positive terms.

U.S. EX-SOLDIERS PARADE IN LONDON

London, Sept. 27.—The people of London gave a wildly enthusiastic reception to a delegation of nearly 1,500 American Legion members, from New York who marched through the streets this afternoon, creating a big traffic problem.

The Americans, in bright uniforms and bearing flags, "fell in" in the great Scotland Yard, while a crowd which had followed them from their hotels became more dense each minute, holding up the Whitehall traffic. Then the visitors marched to the cenotaph in an impressive column made resplendent by red, white and blue ribbons. A drum corps of imposing proportions and gorgeous in scarlet, blue and gold, led the legion band. A women's contingent headed the marchers bearing twelve United States flags.

After placing a wreath on the cenotaph, the United States veterans visited the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster Abbey.

Mr. Mapleson was educated at St. Mary's College and Bonn University, Germany. He was destined for the army, but preferred to follow the footsteps of his father, Colonel J. H. Mapleson, an internationally known impresario in the early days of opera, both here and in England.

Victoria Canadian Ruggers
Will Field Better Team
Than Last Season

Play on Mainland Saturday
With Opening Game Here
October 8

Victoria's championship Canadian ruggers pull out on the midnight boat on Friday for Vancouver, where they will pull in their heads and back the line for the first time this season. The Capitals are to meet Vancouver in the opening game of "The Big Four" League.

The local boys have been working out for the last three weeks and are in fine shape. They will hold another practice this afternoon at 8:15 o'clock at the Royal Athletic Park and then assemble at the Y.M.C.A. at 8:15 o'clock for a "skull practice." Here they will go through the plays they are to pull against Vancouver on Saturday.

BETTER THAN EVER
The Victoria team which last year won the British Columbia championship, is stronger, faster, heavier and better this year, due to the signing of new material. Bert Nicholls, who played with the M.A.A. Juniors of Montreal last year, when they won the Canadian championship; Graham, a Regina player; McDougall from Calgary, and John Harrison, who has played plenty of American rugby, are among the additions.

Although the locals won the title last year they lacked weight on the line. They failed to make the yardage in bucking the line. In an open game they had the speed to run round the ends, and there was nothing wrong with their kicking. This year the lack of weight has been remedied and the club hopes to plough through the toughest lines that are built against them.

GOOD BACKING
The team this year is being backed by the Commercial Travelers, who have spent considerable money in outfitting the club. The Travelers hope that Victorians will turn out for the home games and assist in boosting Canada's own brand of rugby.

The players who have been signed by the Travelers are as follows: Stanley, Benny McMillan, Tiny Watson, Gordie Fraser, Putman, Jack McDonald, Ross Wilson, Dick Wilson, Hall, McDermie, Smith, McDougall, Campbell, Forbes, Bert Nicholls, Larry Henderson, John Harrison, Graham, Whiteman and Billy Oliver.

WILL TAKE RUGS
The personnel of the team which will face Vancouver has not been decided upon, but Ernie Cook, the coach, will have plenty of available men. He will take over a number of extra men so as to be able to shove in substitutes whenever the occasion demands it.

The first Canadian rugby game here will be played on Saturday, October 8. Varsity will be the opponents of Victorians on that day.

Four teams comprise the league this year. New Westminster were admitted this summer, and this will make it possible to have two games each Saturday. The game is taking a strong hold in British Columbia, and the team which wins the "Big Four" title will earn the right to play against the Alberta champions in the Canadian series.

Americans Win Polo Championship After Stern Contest
With Indian Army

Westbury, N.Y., Sept. 27.—The British Army-in-India, slightly more than a year old, is the proud possessor of a pair of boxing gloves, the gift of Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion. Gene Tunney, who played polo with the British team, won the championship of the world when he received an announcement of the Parkersburg babe's arrival, just twenty minutes after Tunney beat Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia, September 23, 1926. The boy's parents made this known. Little Gene tips the scales at twenty pounds.

Series of Matches

Vancouver, Sept. 27.—Dalhousie University's English Rugby team of Halifax will play a three-game series, in Vancouver during Christmas week. It was announced here to-night. It will be the first time that a Maritime Province team has visited the Pacific Coast.

Edmonton, it is stated, may send a rugby team to play with a local squad on Thanksgiving Day.

Vancouver Rugby Union has agreed to a guarantee as requested by the Albertans, but with the stipulation that the prairie club send a stronger team than they did on a previous occasion.

SPENCER'S TEAMS TO PLAY
To-morrow afternoon a soccer game will be played at Central Park at 3 o'clock between Spencer's delivery and Spencer's butchers. The delivery team pick a team from the following: Rosier, Allen, Turner, Duncan, Noye, Staples, Holman, Moir, Jackson, Brown, Smith and Harman.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Red Fitzsimmons, Columbus, knocked out Tiny Herman, Portland, in the sixth round of a scheduled twelve-round bout here last night.

READY TO GO UP

JIMMY REESE

There's a "for sale" sign on Jimmy Reese of the Oakland club, who is a coking second baseman. Reese, teamed with Lyn Lary, another great prospect, is almost a sure bet to go to the majors this year. Reese and Lary form the best keystone combination in the Pacific Coast League. They broke in together and the Oakland club is trying to sell 'em to the same major league club.

Sharkey and Paolino May Meet Next; Dempsey Ready to Battle Anyone

New York, Sept. 27.—Jack Dempsey has come to New York to talk over his boxing future with Tex Rickard. It may be that Dempsey seriously considers becoming a contender in the world championship tournament that Rickard has planned for the winter and next spring.

A third fight between Dempsey and Tunney was one of the major topics of conversation today in the metropolis. Very few professed the belief that Dempsey would be successful in an attempt to lift the title, but nearly everybody was agreed that he still is the biggest drawing power in the business.

Dempsey said he was willing to get into another fight, but if an attractive offer was made, and that he would meet any man. He does not plan to retire from the ring.

FEELING FINE
"It would not take me long to get ready," Dempsey said. "I feel fine." With Dempsey, Sharkey, Paolino, Heaney and George Godfrey standing out among the heavyweights, observers saw opportunities for Rickard to build up, through his tournament, another contender for the 1928 championship fight. A match between Sharkey and Paolino appears to be in the making. Both fighters have asked for a chance to get together.

New London, Conn., Sept. 27.—The National Boxing Commission will stand behind the Illinois Boxing Commission on the question of the legality of Gene Tunney's victory over Jack Dempsey at Chicago, in the opinion of Thomas E. Donohue of this city, president of the association and commissioner of boxing in Connecticut.

Parkersburg, W.Va., Sept. 27.—Gene Tunney, who played polo with the British team, won the championship of the world when he received an announcement of the Parkersburg babe's arrival, just twenty minutes after Tunney beat Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia, September 23, 1926. The boy's parents made this known. Little Gene tips the scales at twenty pounds.

Costly Defeat Suffered by
New York; Pittsburgh and
St. Louis Both Win

New York, Sept. 27.—It looked today as though Pittsburgh fans, who have been buying tickets for the world series, would be able to use them. The Pirates are still two full games ahead in the National League race with only four more games to play. When they beat the Chicago Cubs yesterday 1-0, they cut down the chances of the St. Louis Cardinals who appear to be the only club with a real opportunity to come through in the event of a wholly unexpected form reversal by the Pirates.

Douie Bush's club put over a run in the second inning in Chicago and was enough to win. Miljus, a Pacific Coast contribution to the Pirate pitching staff, and Arthur Nehf, engaged in a mound battle with Miljus having the advantage.

The Pirates scored when Wright led off with a single to left and after Traynor popped out, Grantham singled to center. Harris singled over second, sending Wright home.

Pittsburgh has one more game scheduled with Chicago and a final series of three games with Cincinnati.

CARDS WIN LONG ONE
The Cardinals battled thirteen innings for their 3-1 victory over Cincinnati. Schulte's single drove in Coats, who had doubled with two out for what proved to be in the winning run. Topcor scored the third run.

Heaney and Paolino appear to be in the making. Both fighters have asked for a chance to get together.

Introducing the National League Thrillers, Cy
Williams and Hack Wilson

Meet Hack Wilson, left, of the Chicago Cubs, and Cy Williams, of Philadelphia, who are the home run "twins" of the National League. While the Phillies are not going anywhere in particular and the Cubs have quit after trying to get somewhere, Williams is keeping abreast with Wilson in home runs. When this photograph was taken each slugger had twenty-seven homers to his credit.

Canadian Champ With Miss
Virtue Tops Qualifying Round of Women's Tourney

Toronto, Sept. 27.—For the third time in the six years' history of the competition, there was a tie in the eighteen-hole qualifying round of the annual Canadian ladies' closed golf championship at Toronto Golf Club yesterday, when Miss Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, defended champion, and semi-finalist in the recent United States championship, and Miss Dora Virtue of Montreal, a semi-finalist last year at Winnipeg, turned in cards of eighty against the rest of seventy-seven. Miss Helen Paget of Ottawa, was third, seven strokes behind the two leaders.

Outside of the two leaders the scoring was rather high and most of the players found strokes slipping away from them on greens, which appeared to be rather fast. The pace of the broke the century, and of these thirty-three had ninety-eight, or better.

VICTORIANS DROP OUT
Four players with ninety-eight played off for three places in the championship flight. Mrs. Pirith of Toronto, Miss Effie Nesbitt of Hamilton, and Mrs. E. P. Clarkson of Toronto, were in the match play for the title, and Mrs. Armstrong of Victoria, B.C., dropping back to the first flight.

'Y' Swimmers Asked
To Compete in Gala
At Crystal Garden
Vivian Shoemaker, boys' work secretary at the Y.M.C.A., has received entry forms for the Royal Life Saving Society's swimming gala, which is to be held at the Crystal Garden on Friday, October 7. There is an event on the programme for school boys under fifteen years of age and members of the boys' department able to compete with Mr. Shoemaker not later than Monday, October 3. The race will be fifty yards.

The club meetings, bean suppers, tournaments, sing-songs and games, which are always so popular with the boys during the winter season, will soon be resumed. Mr. Shoemaker said this morning. New members are being added daily to the boys' department.

Leagues; Juniors to Start

Three First Division Matches;
Fans Discuss Saturday's
Results in Senior League

One of the greatest soccer cards ever offered Victoria fans is scheduled for Saturday afternoon. No less than eleven matches are on the programme with three clubs having byes in three of the leagues.

Football is getting a strong hold among the young athletes of this city, and every year there is an increase in the number of teams participating in the various leagues.

First Division matches for Saturday are as follows:
Esquimalt vs. 16th Canadian Scottish, at Work Point.
Fire vs. Victoria City at Beacon Hill.

Sanich Thistles vs. Victoria Wests at Royal Athletic Park.

TALK OVER GAMES
Fans are still discussing the results of last Saturday's games, and all are of the opinion that competition will be exceedingly keen in the First Division this season. This week's games should not provide any upsets, with the feature game scheduled at the Royal Athletic Park between the Wests and Sanich Thistles. Both clubs won their games on Saturday.

Saturday will witness the opening games in the junior and juvenile leagues. The youngsters are taking a keen interest in their football, and several exciting games should be seen. With the younger material rapidly coming to the fore Victoria is assured of having plenty of players for senior teams for years to come.

The junior and juvenile games for Saturday are as follows:
JUNIOR LEAGUE
Sanich Rovers vs. Bapcoo, at Central Park.
Esquimalt vs. Y.M.C.A. at Victoria West Park.

JUVENILE LEAGUE
(Under Eighteen Years)
Royal Oak vs. Esquimalt.
Sanich Rovers vs. James Bay.
Burnside Thilliums vs. Fire vs. Esquimalt.

(Under Fifteen Years)
Esquimalt vs. Sanich Rovers.
Fire vs. Fairfields.
Oak Bay, a bye.

(Under Thirteen Years)
Fire vs. Sanich Rovers.
Victoria City, a bye.

The juvenile League fixtures for the under fifteen and under thirteen years will be played in the morning. All other games will start at 3 p.m.

Echo of Long Swim

San Jose, Cal., Sept. 27.—An echo of the $25,000 channel swim between Santa Catalina Island, Cal., and the mainland last January was heard in Justice Court here when Paul W. Walker, Venice, Cal., boatman, filed suit for $70 against George Young, victor in the race, and Henry O'Byrne, his manager. Walker's suit charged that he rented a boat to Young for the Channel event but was not paid and the boat was not returned to him. O'Byrne, in answer, said he never had heard of Walker until the suit was filed.

Leo Marchiori Pedals to Bellingham and Back at
Average of 21 Miles an Hour

Vancouver, Sept. 27.—Leo Marchiori, popular rider of the Vancouver Bicycle Club, rode from Vancouver to Bellingham and back, a distance of approximately 132 miles, on Sunday, in 6 hours 33 minutes 15 seconds, an average speed of 21.9 miles for the distance.

Three riders started out from the post office at 6:05 a.m., accompanied by two dogs, those attempting the journey being Marchiori, Harry Cowles and Tom Wilson. E. Blackhouse, vice-president of the club, acted as time-keeper, and was accompanied by R. J. Routledge, president, and D. Cook, honorary captain, to see that the riders were not peccad.

Acting Chief J. E. Bull of the Bellingham fire brigade, signed the papers of the riders at the Tulip City firehall at 9:01 a.m. On the return trip Wilson gave up when 19 miles out of Bellingham, after covering the eighty-five miles in 4 hours 40 minutes.

At the top of the big hill on the Vancouver side of Cloverdale, Marchiori gradually drew away from Cowles and finished ten minutes ahead. Despite the fact that he is forty years of age, Cowles put up a fine performance in finishing in 6 hours 43 minutes 10 seconds. Stoppages for meals, passing through the customs at Blaine and for a rub down in Blaine were included in the time taken.

FOLEY MEETS CARTER
Seattle, Sept. 27.—Vic Foley of Vancouver, B.C., and Leslie "Wildcat" Carter of Everett, junior lightweight, meet on even terms to-night on the top of the first indoor boxing card of the season. Although Foley earned a decision over Carter in their first encounter here last December, the "Wildcat" sensational draw with Doc Snell, a couple of weeks ago, has stripped the Canadian of odds among local ring followers.

The speedy negro has added much caution to his style since Foley punched him around the ropes, and should be able to avoid the punishment the veteran gave him in their previous battle.

SAANICH ROVERS MEET
A meeting of the Saanich Rovers Athletic Association will be held at 11:30 Harriet Road to-morrow at 8 p.m. Business of importance and reports of delegates in Monday's meeting held at Y.M.C.A. will be heard. All players and those interested are asked to attend.

Rusty Callow's successor at the University of Washington as head coach of the Huskies' crew is Al Ulbrickson, a young man who in his collegiate days was regarded as one of the greatest strokes in the United States. Ulbrickson is a Seattle boy and his appointment as coach of the Washington crew was popular with the folks there.

Victoria Golf Club
Starts C. & M. Match
At Oak Bay Saturday

Qualifying Round Will be 18
Holes; Entries Must Be in
By Thursday

On Saturday the qualifying round for the Challenge & Mitchell Cup will be played at the Victoria Golf Club. The round will consist of eighteen holes medal play and the competitors will be allowed their full handicaps, limited to twenty-four. The sixteen players returning the lowest net scores will be drawn one against another to play off, match play, for possession of the trophy for one year or until the competition is not played. An additional prize will be given by the club, which the winner will retain.

The competitors, other than the first sixteen, will be divided into flights according to the number of players, and will be drawn in the same way as the first sixteen, to play off in each flight. In case of a tie for the last place qualifying, a full round will be played to decide who qualifies, excepting handicaps are equal, when one or more holes only will be played.

The first round and possibly the second in all flights will be played on October 2. It is necessary that all the rounds be played off as soon as possible as other competitors will follow shortly. In playing off all matches three-quarters of the difference in the handicaps will be allowed.

ENTRIES CLOSE THURSDAY
In addition to the prize to be awarded the winner of the cup, a prize will be given to the runner-up, and the lowest net score in the qualifying round will close at 5 p.m. Thursday, September 29.

Last year the cup was won by Harold Wilson. Harold Haines was the runner-up. The first flight was won by Arthur Musgrave, and Ken Raymur was the runner-up. The second flight was won by A. H. Ford and Major Wise runner-up.

Garrison Eleven
Will Compete In Mid-week League

Five Clubs Expected to Comprise Wednesday Football League This Season

After being out of the league for several seasons the Garrison football team will have their hat in the Victoria and District Wednesday League this year. At a meeting of the executive held last night at the Tillamook Club the Tillamooks filed their entry.

Three other teams, the Tillamooks, Rennie and Taylor's and the Navy, all signified their intention of competing this season, while the Hudson's Bay asked to be given a few more days, and the executive decided to extend the date for entries until September 30. It is expected the Rays will have an entry ready by that time.

A STRONG LEAGUE
With five teams taking part the mid-weekers will have a strong league, and their followers should witness plenty of good football.

The opening matches will be played on Wednesday, October 5, starting at 3 o'clock.

It was decided last night to change the system of playing for the Pender Cup, emblematic of the league championship. This year the league will play under a straight point system, and the one leading at the end of the schedule will be the champions. The schedule will call for each club to meet the other twice. Confidence in Putting Big Asset—
Determine to Hole Every Putt

I suppose every golfer in the world must have wondered why he can play one day without missing a single hole-in-one putt, and on the very next hole find himself unable to hole out from the shortest distances. For a long time now I have worried and fretted myself trying to develop a putting style which would enable me to putt well every day. I have tried in other words, to reduce my play on the greens to a scientific and certain basis upon which I could depend.

Clarke Coffey thinks that the only important feature of the putt is the stroke and perfect hitting of the ball. His idea is that if a man could acquire a sound stroke, and would practice until he could produce it every time, he could putt well every day. So when Clarke practices putting he gives no attention to the hole nor to where his ball may finish. His entire concentration is upon hitting the ball, because, he says, all missed putts are occasioned by faulty hitting.

Now I admit that the stroke is important, for obviously the ball cannot be started on its proper line if the club-face is askew at the time of hitting. But I do believe that many of us give too much thought to the way we take the club back, and to the position of the wrists, and to stroking with the right hand.

PUTTING STROKE SIMPLE
Mechanically the putting stroke is the simplest of all. There are no difficult lies on the putting green, and there are no problems of pivoting and elbow action to contend with. It would seem that we ought to be able, without much ado, to swing a putter in reasonably accurate fashion if we have any sense with a golf club.

My own experience in this respect seems to me to be typical. For many years I tried to imitate Walter Hagen or Freddie McLeod, and other golf players, but I could never attain any satisfactory consistency on the greens, until I abandoned all this and began to take my own natural position and to swing the club in my own peculiar way. However, I made up my mind that regardless of how it was done the important thing in putting was to get the ball into the hole.

I still practice putting just as I practice all my shots, but I don't do it for the same reason. When I got out to work with irons or wood I do so because there is a fault in my swing that must be found and corrected; but when I have a putt I make up my mind to give it a "Calamity Jane" I do not give a thought to the way she is swinging. I mean to get the ball into the hole.

The two essentials of good putting are touch and confidence. By touch I mean the feeling of something which unconsciously gives the proper strength to the blow. It is the result of a co-ordination of delicate mechanisms in the mind and nerves. It cannot be taught and possibly cannot be acquired by practice by all people. Some days we have it and some days we don't. But we cannot putt well without it.

Confidence is a familiar quantity. It is easy to recall, and I am sure that it is over fifty per cent of good putting. I have many times holed prodigious putts and made a hole-in-one before I addressed the ball that I was going to do. Often I can see the line which my ball must take to the hole, and it appears to me that I am going to make it. I don't seem able to single instance when I missed one of those putts: I thought once that I could make a putt, but I put it in only once and look until I could see the line of every putt. But it doesn't work that easily. It takes something more than waiting and looking.

We have all had days when we could have putted well with any sort of a club from any position and with any stroke. We simply feel that we are better than we are.

I know very well that I do not take the same stance on every putt, and I do not grip my club at the same point. Every time I take a putt I am sure that my putting has improved as a result of forgetting about my stroke.

The state of mind, unfortunately, cannot be controlled. We cannot have a result of forgetting about my stroke. The state of mind, unfortunately, cannot be controlled. We cannot have a result of forgetting about my stroke.

Basketball League
Annual Meeting

The City Basketball League will hold their annual meeting and election of officers at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday evening, September 30, at 8 o'clock. Delegates from all teams are urged to be present as important and necessary business is to be discussed, and a successful season can only be assured upon the support the teams will give.

The scaffolding had broken, and with the hastily summoned doctor, Mike knelt at his fellow-workman's side. "Spoke to me, Pat? Spoke to me?" he cried, bending in anxiety over the victim of the accident.

"I'm sorry, my man," interposed the physician, "but Pat is dead."

"No, no! Pat, can't you speak to me?"

Pat, his eyes slowly opening, fixed on the questioner a look of intense dignity, and slowly replied—"Be still, Mike! The doctor knows best."

Father (who has taken his daughter to the play)—I'm sorry I brought you now. Ferry this is hardly a play for a girl of your age.

Daughter—Oh, that's all right, Dad. I'll probably live up a bit before the end.

The schedule was arranged in two halves and the winners of each half played off for the championship.

Argentine Corn Goes Through Owen Sound Elevators

Owen Sound, Sept. 27.—For the first time in the history of the upper Great Lakes, corn from the Argentine is passing through Owen Sound grain elevators for distribution to Western Ontario. Forty thousand bushels have arrived from Montreal. The low price of South American grain in competition with United States produce was the cause of its long haul.

LIGHT IS NOT YET PUT ON CAPE SCOTT

Estevan Unable to Establish Beacon Owing to Rough Weather

Weather conditions defeated the first attempt of the Canadian Government steamer Estevan to establish a light beacon on Cape Scott, the most northerly point of Vancouver Island, according to word received by Col. A. W. H. Wilby, agent for the Federal Department of Marine and Fisheries here.

The crew of the Estevan was unable to make a landing owing to the rough weather, and stayed in the vicinity three or four days awaiting calm weather, but this was of no avail. The light will probably be established later in the winter, Wilby said.

The Estevan will proceed shortly to Lennard Island to renew the light which was destroyed by fire this summer.

TALHYBIUS HAS STORMY VOYAGE

Blue Funnel Liner Here Today from Japan and China; Arrived 12.30 p.m.

Bringing a $3,000,000 silk cargo from the Orient in addition to other shipments, the Blue Funnel liner Talhybius, Captain J. Hatfield, docked here at 12.30 p.m. today. She was several hours later than at first expected, having been delayed in the Straits by thick weather. Captain Hatfield reported a fairly stormy trip across the Pacific.

The Talhybius had only one cabin passenger among her list of 108. This was Andrew Hazeldine, eighteen years of age of Hongkong, who is on his way to study at the University of Toronto. Thirty-one Chinese disembarked here while the remaining seventy-five proceeded with the vessel to Vancouver.

The vessel will sail late this afternoon for Vancouver after discharging general cargo here. Her silk cargo, totaling approximately 3,500 bales of the raw product, will be discharged in Vancouver and shipped East by special train.

The Talhybius docked at Pier 1, Rithe's, and as she was warped to the dock, another Blue Funnel vessel, the Proteus, lay opposite her at Pier 3. The Proteus is outbound today for Japan and China ports. She arrived here about 10 o'clock this morning and after waiting for several Chinese passengers from the Seattle boat sailed early this afternoon. She took out a capacity cargo.

Crew of U.S. Ship Wrecked Twice in Course of Voyage

New York, Sept. 27.—Fifteen members of the crew of the American steamer Homestead, which sank off the Malabar coast of India last July, arrived yesterday on the liner Laconia. They were rescued by a Burma oil tanker and taken to Bombay, from where they started for Gibraltar, only to have their vessel rammed another in the Mediterranean. The crew will go to Washington to testify in a United States Shipping Board inquiry into the sinking of the Homestead.

CANADIAN TRAINS ATTRACT ATTENTION IN BALTIMORE

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 27.—"You are running a little too fast." This was the gentle hint contained in a wire from an American train dispatcher to Driver H. J. Palmer, who was in charge of the Canadian National Railway's electric car on its trip from Toronto to Baltimore, where this newest of transportation innovations, developed by Canadian National engineers, is one of the feature exhibits at the "Fair of the Iron Horse," marking the centenary of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

As a matter of fact, Palmer was not breaking any speed records, and the message was not intended as a rebuke, but merely as a suggestion that Palmer was carrying out instructions a good deal better than had been anticipated. He had been warned to keep out of the way of a regular passenger train that had set out close beside him. The electric rolled along at a steady clip of fifty-five to fifty-seven miles per hour, and left the steam train far in the rear.

POPULAR EXHIBIT

The old electric is proving one of the great popular exhibits at the "Fair of the Iron Horse," both with the public and with the many railway men who are in attendance. Its performance on the trip from Toronto to Baltimore is a topic frequently discussed by the railway fraternity here. The car and its performance on the way here have served to bring Canada to the fore at this big show.

The confederation, because it is the largest engine in the British Empire, has also brought favorable notice to the Dominion. Driver Palmer in bringing the Canadian National car to Baltimore, beat the best time of every regular steam train passenger schedule of the line from Toronto to Baltimore. The run from Glenora to Windsor, eighty miles, was made in one hour and thirty minutes.

The Canadian exhibits at the big railway show are arousing widespread interest, and among the most popular at the Hathor grounds.

The huge "Confederation," towering high in the row of locomotives, was hailed by many thousands on the opening day and was greeted with cheers as she steamed past the grand stand, leading off the procession of modern locomotives, with the English engine King George V. There is a steady stream of people passing through the oil electric car, and at the Canadian booth there is a constant demand for the special literature that has been prepared by the Canadian National with a view to acquainting the United States people with the show, with Canada and its attractions.

SIR DONALD MANN ONCE OFFERED SULLIVAN MINE FOR $10,000; NOW PAYS $12,000,000 A YEAR

Vancouver, Sept. 27.—Men of great vision sometimes fail to see the opportunities that are offered them. None could accuse Sir Donald Mann of being lacking in foresight. He was one of the "empire builders" of Canada's pioneer days, and only the disastrous effects of the war prevented him from carrying through to success some of the greatest projects ever attempted in the Dominion.

The other day in Winnipeg he recalled an incident which shows that the greatest of practical dreamers may not see the potentialities of a new country.

He said: "One summer's day in 1893 I stood on the banks of the St. Mary's river in the Kootenays when a very tall, very handsome red-headed prospector came along and offered to sell me a mine for $10,000 that he had just discovered. He was one of the Sullivan clan from Bantay Bay, Ireland, and he had come to the Kootenays that very year chasing fortune and he had found it twenty miles west of where I met him.

"There was not a railway within hundred miles of the little prospect of mine, so I did not buy. That mine is now earning net profits of $12,000,000 a year for the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company."

It is interesting to recall that MacKenzie and Mann once held the Big Missouri mine under bond. That property has been acquired recently by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company, operators of the Sullivan mine.

HUNTER HOME—The Northern Light, after four and a half months of cruising in Alaskan waters, seeking specimens for the Field Museum, Chicago, is pictured here as she returned to San Francisco Harbor. The crew was composed of Chicago Sea Scouts, chosen for the voyage.

U.S. CAPTAIN IS FREED FROM CRUELTY CHARGE

British Foreign Office Takes Action When British Seamen Loses Suit

F. Thomas Assistant Steward of Tanker Manatawny, Started Action

New York, Sept. 27.—Captain Michael J. Crowley, master of the American tanker Manatawny, was yesterday exonerated by the grand jury of charges of cruelty to Fred Thomas, assistant steward aboard the tanker, and former officer of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers.

London, Sept. 27.—Great surprise was expressed in high British Government headquarters over dispatches from New York stating that the federal grand jury had refused to indict Captain Michael J. Crowley, skipper of the American tanker Manatawny, on charges of cruelty to Frederick Thomas, British seaman, who served as steward under Crowley.

The British Foreign Office has called the British Embassy in Washington for full reports of the case in order that it may consider what steps can be taken.

ACTED STRANGELY

Captain Crowley, testifying before a New York grand jury said that Thomas, who was a former officer in the Royal Welsh Fusiliers, had been observed acting strangely on the first night out from Southampton and he placed under guard in the ship's hospital. Later Thomas escaped the captain said, and obtained possession of an axe, but was finally caught again and shackled to the skipper during a heavy storm.

Members of the crew testified that when Thomas became violent a fire hose was turned on him as he stood handcuffed to the captain, and both were drenched. Subsequently, Thomas was placed on a stretcher and sent to New York to be sent back to England.

After hearing testimony the grand jury exonerated Captain Crowley. The cruelty charges had been brought against the captain as the result of a communication from Sir Eme Howard, the British Ambassador, to Secretary of State Kellogg.

Sailors of Ms. Modavia Left When Boat Sails

Expecting their vessel to sail at 2 p.m., George Dunmore and Geo. Baines, two sailors of the Donaldson motorship Modavia, strolled down to the Outer Wharf yesterday afternoon after looking over Victoria, only to find the Modavia had sailed for Vancouver at 11.45 a.m.

After communicating with A. E. Shanks, local agent for the Donaldson Line, transportation was arranged for two men to Vancouver, where they will rejoin the vessel.

CONTRACT LET FOR THIRD N.Y.K. SHIP

Yokohama Dockyard to Construct Last of Motorships For Trans-Pacific Use

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—Word was received here yesterday at the office of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha Steamship Company that the third motor liner for the company's trans-Pacific service will be constructed at the Yokohama dockyard. The contracts for the first two were awarded several months ago to the Mitsubishi Shipbuilding Company. Work on all three of the liners will be rushed to be placed in the service at the earliest possible time. They will be all motor driven, and will be much faster than the present ships which the company operates in the trade.

Cleaning up what is regarded in local fishing circles as an unsatisfactory salmon season in Alaskan waters, the Alaska packers steamer Arctic and Attak, Southward bound for San Francisco, word to this effect was received at the local office of the company. Both vessels are coming in lighter than they would in a normal season, and on the whole, this year's catch will be about twenty-five per cent short, company officials announced.

Tadokatsu Asaka, general passenger agent of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha Line, returned here yesterday from Victoria, where he attended the sessions of the trans-Pacific passenger conference.

W. M. Tupper Has Valuable Cargo On Alaska Trip

Seattle, Sept. 27.—A veritable treasure ship, the Santa Ana steamship William M. Tupper, returning from Bethel, Alaska, is unloading $300,000 worth of furs, $120,000 in gold bullion and a herd of ninety-five reindeer.

Arriving on Puget Sound a day ahead of schedule, the American Hawaiian freighter Minnetonka is to lift 5,000 tons of general cargo and sail for the East coast September 29, a day ahead of schedule.

Because of increased business here, following the taking over of the California Steamship Company Agency, Swaine and Hoyt have created the post of traffic representative and appointed J. S. McMahon to fill the position.

Coming to load 4,000,000 feet of lumber for Sydney, Australia, the Danish motorship Stensby is due here Wednesday. The British steamer Skegness, another W. L. Gornay carrier, is now here taking aboard lumber for Japan and will complete a sailing October 5.

Wreckage of Lost Lunenburg Vessels Brought Into Port

Lunenburg, Sept. 27.—The mystery surrounding the fate of one of the four Lunenburg fishing vessels lost this season with their combined crews of approximately eighty men was lifted when the fisheries protection steamer Arras towed into this port schooner wreckage consisting of a main bow, main gaff, top mast and sails, which were identified as having belonged to the Una Corkum.

The schooner last sailed with a crew of twenty-one in command of Capt. Will Andrews.

CHANGE IN TRAIN SERVICE

OUR SERIAL STORY

"The Wife & Co."

By LYLE HAMILTON

She trotted out and returned in a few moments, holding a typewriter under one arm and bearing a sheet of papers in the other. Depositing the machine on the centre table with a bump, she panted: "There! I bought that typewriter at a bargain six months ago. It's pretty rusty, but I think it'll work when it gets a new ribbon in it. Maybe it needs some oil, too."

Half an hour later Molly, seated on a dictionary—the table was so high that it was necessary to elevate herself so she could write—started on her new duties. She had cleaned the old typewriter as best she could, had lubricated it with some salad oil that Mrs. Buck found for her, and had tightened one or two screws with a hairpin. It still needed a new ribbon, which Molly promised to get before she came again on Monday.

The scratchy, blot-marked, pen-and-ink copy of a manuscript lay at her side. It was entitled "Her Maiden Passion," by Evelyn Ellis Ellison.

Molly bent to read the first paragraph. "The girl lifted her eyes to heaven," it began. "Warm lips were pressed to hers; hot lips; lips that burned. Her eyes traveled, terror-haunted, toward the door. Was there no escape?"

Molly picked up the manuscript and continued reading.

CHAPTER XXXIX

Molly read to the bottom of the third page.

It was a burning romance. As she laid the manuscript down and prepared to begin typing, the heroine had just been backed into a closet and was circled so tightly by the arms of the wooer—a perfect stranger—that she could scarcely breathe.

Molly sighed. It was a lovely story. "Do you like pass stuff?" demanded Mrs. Buck, suddenly appearing in the doorway. The author was doing her own work in the next room.

Molly did not understand. "Like which?" said she. "Pass stuff—passionate love-making," Mrs. Buck came forward and tapped the manuscript. "I always begin my stories with pass—that's short for passion, my dear. The girls are crazy about it. I find it best to have the hero take the heroine into his arms at once, as soon as he meets her."

"This is terribly thrilling," Molly said.

"Yes, isn't it?" responded Mrs. Buck, complacently. "I always start my stories that way now."

She retired, and Molly began a speedy retelling of the keys. She was a very good stenographer, and could spell. Without looking into the dictionary upon which she sat, she corrected Mrs. Buck's spelling as she went along, and turned the scrawled and interlined romance into neatly margined type, with quotation marks and punctuation in due order.

The afternoon flew by. She had reached the passage:

"Her hunted eyes regarded him as he reclined upon the silken divan, smoking a cigarette and cigarette, and sweeping her with his bold gaze. His great boardroom came and licked his hand, then looked across at the frenzied girl whose arms were bound behind her. Was there no escape?"

When she glanced at the clock upon the mantel, it was a quarter to six. With a sharp cry Molly sprang to her feet, arranged the typed sheets into a neat pile, clipped together the pages she had copied, and ran into the room where Mrs. Buck was working.

The author, her feet upon a chair, was absently writing on a pad that rested on her upraised knees.

"I've got to go, Mrs. Buck," said Molly. "I'm way late."

The woman looked up, vaguely. Plainly her mind still was with the tortured heroine of her story. "Ruh," said she.

"It's late—I've got to run. Shall I come Monday?" Mrs. Buck slowly lowered her feet and with her pen between her teeth stood up. "It was sweet of you to work so long. Mrs. Brownell," she added, removing the pen and speaking more clearly. "One o'clock Monday, then."

She forgot the pay for the afternoon's work, and Molly did not like to remind her of it. They bade one another a cheery goodbye at the door and Molly took to her heels and ran.

It was nearing seven o'clock when she reached the little apartment.

Bob, with a kitchen apron tied around his chest, came to the door, worry plainly written on his face.

"I was afraid something had happened to you," he said, as he kissed her. "I've got dinner almost ready. Didn't find anything in the kitchen, so I went out and bought some chops."

"Bobbie," Molly chattered, as she threw off her hat and coat. "I've got the darndest job. I'm copying novels for Evelyn Ellison. It's just in the afternoon and she'll pay me forty dollars a month, and Bob, she writes the most thrilling things."

He had returned to the kitchen and was anxiously poking at the heat that sputtered in the frying pan. Molly flew back and forth setting the table.

"The girl in the story," she went on, "goes into a gorgeous house where the people are away for the summer and a man comes and grabs her and kisses her and she can't get loose! And it seems this man has been there in secret, and he ties her hands behind her and his big dog keeps her from running away!"

"How does the man get anything to eat if he's there in secret?" objected Brownell.

"I don't know—it doesn't say. But he has the richest foods and wines, and only laughs when she pleads with him to spare her!"

"Sounds crummy to me," said his husband, dumping the chops on to a platter.

"Men don't understand romance," Molly said. "She makes a perfect fortune writing it—Mrs. Buck. I mean, that's her real name. She signs herself Evelyn Ellis Ellison, but her husband's a music teacher. She has a two-thousand dollar rug."

"Maybe she got it from the house the man is hiding in," suggested Brownell, facetiously.

"Don't be silly. It's a sweet story. The meal was ready, and they settled themselves at the dinner table. There was only the plate of chops, and bread and butter, and coffee that Brownell had boiled until it was harsh and bitter, but both were hungry and they ate without comment."

"The boss went down to Somerville himself," said Bob.

"He did! Do you suppose he's interested in Mary Holmquist?"

"No more than he is in anybody else in the shop, I suppose. Why?"

"It seems funny that he'd leave his work and go down there to look up that wretched husband of hers. She tried to vamp him once, you know."

He laughed. "It would be a comedy if Frazier'd be pinning for little Swede! I don't think so, though—you remember what an interest he took in our wedding."

"Interest. He tried every way he could to stop it! And then told me to stay away from his old office! I don't see what he sees in Mary, though. Those blonde types fade so early—you know, Bob, nearly every blonde has to brighten her hair after she's twenty."

"Hang it, I don't believe he sees anything in Swede! She works for him and she's in trouble. That's what's got him interested."

"Girls like she is will work on a man, though, without his knowing it," Molly declared. "I'll bet she's been in his office and cried."

"She hasn't," Brownell was positive. "I was there when she came in this morning, and I saw her all day. She was doing my work, and she didn't even look up when the old man passed."

"Were you watching her, Bob?"

"Certainly not. But I just happened to look when the boss came through. Go ahead—drink your coffee. I'll brace you up."

Molly took a sip of the potent liquid. "I wish you'd get a man stenographer," she said. "I don't like to think of you working down there with a blonde."

Until Monday Molly's time was free. It was easier to stay in the suite of rooms with the certain that next week she would be leaving them every day. She cleaned and cleaned, pored over a cookbook that came with a small packet of flour, and attempted the manufacture of a batch of cakes.

She held on to her two dollars as tightly as she could, but on Saturday morning it was necessary to go to the bank. Not quite half of Dr. Brownell's gift was on deposit there, and Molly drew ten dollars.

In the afternoon she met her husband, by arrangement, down town.

They were to pay the weekly installment on the engagement ring, and then go to a movie.

"Did they give you a raise?" was her first question as he came swinging across the street to the corner where she waited.

"Nope." He did not seem distressed. "Old man didn't say anything about paying me more on this job. He's not back yet, anyway."

"Didn't Stickle get more than you do?"

"Twice as much. But he'd been with the outfit twenty years."

Molly lifted her hand in quick gesture of annoyance. "Bobbie, we need more money. We can't make ends meet."

"Oh, if I make good Frazier'll boost my pay," he said comfortably.

"When were you off fifty and grey-haired?" They set off together toward the jeweler's. "He pays favorites. Bob. He only paid me twenty-five dollars, and Mary gets thirty!"

"Yep—he pays 'em more when they've been in the place a couple of years. One of the girls gets forty."

"Almost as much as you get!"

"Yes—but in fifteen years I'll bet I'll have Frazier's own job."

"In fifteen years? Why, Bob, we'll be nearly forty years old! What good will it do us to have a lot of money then?"

They debated the question until they turned in the door of the jewelry store.

The proprietor came forward, nodding to Brownell.

"Been wanting to see you," he said. "A party in your place—blonde girl named Mary Holmquist—lost a diamond here on payments and she claims she lost it. How about it? Is she good? Will she pay?"

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Pencil Box

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By HOWARD E. GARIS)

Once upon a time, while hopping through the woods, thinking that it would soon be cold weather and that he had better begin to see about a new fur coat, Uncle Wiggily heard some voice talking. One voice said: "Well, there's no use wishing, Nibbler. We might as well stop thinking about them."

"Yes," went on the other voice, "I suppose so. But I'd dearly love to have one, wouldn't you?"

Before he thought what he was doing, Uncle Wiggily called out: "What is it you want?"

Quick as a wink back came the answer from two voices: "Nice pencil boxes!"

The rabbit gentleman was very glad to hear this because, for all he knew, those voices might have belonged to some bad chaps, and they might have answered, after he asked them what they wanted—they might have said: "We want your ears!"

But, instead, the voices had said: "We want nice pencil boxes!" Then Uncle Wiggily looked over the top of a sumach bush and saw a poor little mouse boy and his sister going to school. Their clothing was clean, but it was patched in many places and Uncle Wiggily knew the mice to be children of a poor but honest worker in a cheese factory not far away. Mr. Mouse helped make cheese and so got enough for his wife and family to eat, but it was hard to keep the two mice children, who were named Nibbler and Squeaker, in clothes.

"Oh, ho! So you want nice pencil boxes, do you?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he smiled at the mouse brother and sister.

"Yes, sir, if you please," answered Nibbler.

"But we know we can never have any like the other boys and girls have, because Daddy is too poor to buy them for us," added Squeaker.

Uncle Wiggily thought of the fine pencil boxes he had seen his own little rabbits carrying to school. He knew the other pupils had pretty cases in which to carry their pencils. Then, as he looked at Nibbler and Squeaker carrying their pencils tied around with a string, the rabbit gentleman said: "My dears, you are each going to have a fine pencil box. Come with me!"

"Oh, we haven't time to go far before school," objected Nibbler.

"You aren't going far—just to that white birch tree over there," and the rabbit gentleman pointed to one near-allowed to use a little talk like that once in a while.

"Oh, I haven't finished them yet," chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "They must be decorated!" He took some red juice from the sumach berries and stained the parts of the white bark a beautiful color. Then, indeed, the pencil boxes looked better, even than some in the store.

"Oh, how wonderful!" cried Squeaker, clapping her tiny paws. And when she and her brother reached the Hollow Stump School all the other pupils looked at the beautiful bark pencil boxes and wondered where they had come from.

"Uncle Wiggily made them!" said Nibbler. But the two poor little mouse children did not grow proud or stuck up. No, indeed. And that is not half the story. For that night Uncle Wiggily showed poor Mr. Mouse how to make pencil boxes out of birch bark.

"How lovely!" murmured Squeaker. "Pretty kippy, I call them!" said Nibbler, who, being a boy-mouse, was

JACK LOCKWILL IN THE WOODS

By GILBERT PATTEN

The declining sun was low above the treetops when Willie Darling, carrying a fishing rod and a can of worms, crept cautiously down to the stream that was filling the spring woods with its gurgling, splashing music. "Whoops!" whispered Willie, stopping to bait up. "Got to be trout here! I'll show whether I can catch fish or not!" Dropping in, he had a strike at once.

With a squeal of joy, Willie "derricked out" a speckled beauty that weighed at least a pound. "Told 'em I'd catch a mess for supper!" he cried.

In spite of his crude methods Darling soon had a number of trout flapping in his creel. The sun sank lower, and shadows gathered in the woods.

Mosquitoes assembled and hummed around the young angler's ears, and they bit even oftener than the fish. Willie finally hooked the daddy of the pool. After an exciting struggle, he swung the big fellow over his head. Behind him, he felt a jerk at the line. Whirling round, he was startled and astounded to see the fish clutched in the paws of a huge shaggy bear!

and the mouse gentleman stopped work in the cheese factory and sold so many pencil boxes that soon he was no longer poor, and Nibbler and Squeaker did not have to wear patched clothes. Though, of course, patched clothes are very jolly, I think. You don't have to worry about tearing them or getting mud on them. So this teaches us that though peanuts are not very stylish, still elephants love them. And if the baby gold fish will keep its tail dry when it goes in swimming the first time, I'll tell you just about Uncle Wiggily's acorn necklace.

THE TINYMITES

By MAX COOMAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Say, can we help you?" Scouty cried. One of the little lassies sighed. "Oh, no," said she, "I fear you can't."

"Hard work is something that I dread. I guess we'll have to leave you now. We'll come again some day."

"All right," one of the lassies said. "If you must go, go right ahead. The next time that you come we hope that we'll have time to play."

The Tines ran with all their might right back to where they'd left their kite. "Let's fly now to Arabia," said Copy. "It's not so far from here."

They reached the kite with one grand bound. It started lifting from the ground, and as they sailed away again, the whole bunch gave a cheer.

They hadn't traveled very far till

Clowny said, "Wherever we are, it must be near a desert, and a sandstorm's near at hand." And soon they found that he was right, for sand blew all around the kite. "Oh, this is awful," Carpy cried. "I think we'd better land."

Just as they landed once again, the sandstorm cleared away and then they saw a monstrous camel moving slowly over the hill. "Oh, look, he's coming down this way," cried Scouty. "It's our lucky day. Perhaps we'll have a camel ride, and that would be a thrill."

An Arab led the camel near and loudly shouted, "Have no fear. I'll gladly give you all a ride, if you will just be good." To get aboard they quickly tried, and soon were ready for a ride. "Say, he'll be kind," said Copy. "If we do just as we should."

A Simple Treatment for Those Who Suffer—and It's Effective!

Hundreds of people in Victoria have told us of the relief they have obtained by the use of this simple, natural remedy. Many have been so impressed with the health-giving qualities of this magnetic belt discovery that they have not hesitated to write testimonials giving their experience. The following is an example:

Dear Sir:

I wish to add my testimony to the benefits of the I-on-a-co Belt. I have been suffering intense pain with rheumatism for more than six months and was advised to use the I-on-a-co Belt, and must say the result is wonderful.

I suffer no more pain and I feel more fit than I have done for a long time.

The I-on-a-co Belt is the simplest and easiest way to recover health which I have seen. I recommend this belt to anyone who is in need of relief.

Yours truly,

CITY COUNCIL CLEARS AIR ON PENSIONS ISSUE

Council Agrees on Offer to be Made Employees

Civil Service Committee Will Advise on Future Contracts

A civic superannuation scheme to give similar benefits to those outlined in the Provincial Superannuation Act, but to be controlled and operated under the terms of the Municipal Act was agreed upon by the City Council last night as the unanimous offer that will be made to those in the city's employ who may be entitled to such consideration.

A by-law will be prepared in its preliminary state so that adjustments or minor changes to the plan now proposed may be written in when the city and its employees have shaken hands over the offer. The cost of the city's scheme will show a considerable saving over the operation of the Provincial Superannuation Act if applied it was stated.

Legal advice as to the status of day workers under any pension plan and the appointment of a civil service commission were other features of the proposals accepted by the council, when presented by Alderman William Marchant, chairman of the special committee handling the matter.

Briefly the City Council's offer will include a scheme of superannuation with benefits similar to the provincial measure, but to be operated under the Municipal Act with certain changes to be sought to include provision as to dependents. The employees' money will be placed in a separate fund. Three months' notice will be given by the employee or the city respectively when applying for or intending to apply the plan to an employee. The city's liabilities under the plan will be met currently out of annual appropriations sufficient for the needs of each year. The sum of $7,500, or the balance left this year, will be set aside in a contingent fund, together with any year's end balances for the purpose, to cover any unexpected requirements of the measure.

This in brief is the proposal that the city will now put up to all branches of the city's service who have applied for pension benefits. In agreeing to this course the council also passed a resolution proposed by Alderman Marchant, which provided for a civil service commission and other matters, and which read as follows:

That a Civil Service Committee be appointed to consist of the Mayor, Aldermen Marchant, Holmes and Litchfield, and an Advisory Board of Comptroller Macdonald, Dr. Price and Solicitor Fringie, whose duties shall be to consider all matters relating to the appointment of all employees—whether temporary or permanent—organization of staff, salaries, wages, holidays, hours of service, dismissal, retirement and superannuation, and to report their findings and recommendations to the City Council from time to time.

That the Comptroller be instructed to prepare lists of all permanent employees, giving full particulars as to age, date of permanent appointment by the City Council or by an official authorized to employ or appoint, salary or wages, stating whether service has been continuous or otherwise; such statements to be verified by the heads of the respective departments. If the records of the institution show that an employee must be personally examined, and a statement made on oath as to the accuracy thereof; suitable forms to be provided for this purpose.

That the city solicitor be instructed to advise the City Council as to the legality of superannuating day-workers, who from the nature of their employment may be, or are, dismissed from continuous service through either lack of funds, cessation of work, completion of job or wear and tear, and to make a special report in relation to the men employed on the outboard or inland seasonal work. It is suggested that the city solicitor be requested for an opinion thereon.

VOTERS' LISTS UNDER REVIEW

City to Engage Extra Help to Bring 1927 List up to Date

Cities should pay the same attention to the annual revision of the voters' list as to provincial rosters it was contended before the City Council last night by Alderman E. B. Woodward.

There was much need of an annual revision to keep the list up to date, and though this provision is intended to of statutory requirements, it would pay to put on an extra man to secure the registration of voters who might not otherwise be reached, it was argued.

The council listened sympathetically to the plan and agreed to engage a man to spend a few weeks in a special effort to enroll voters who are entitled to a say in city affairs. The action was made unanimously.

WOULD BE BUYER TEMPTS COUNCIL

Holds Out Cash Offer For Esquimalt Land, But Council Undecided

Although tempted by a cash offer for two lots within the municipality, the Esquimalt Council last night decided against setting a precedent, and instead of disposing of the property for less than the upset price, will invite the intending purchaser into conference with the municipal body to arrive at terms. The offer of the would-be buyer was $190, just $25 less than the upset price, and far below the assessed value of the property. There was a condition mentioned by the buyer, however, that the road leading to the lots should be put in proper state of repair and other matters remedied in connection with general improvements.

Councillor Cox thought that a sale of that better, than that of the lots, and was of the opinion that tax paying land, no matter what the loss, was better than that which was simply so much barren acreage. Such a transaction as that suggested by the would-be purchaser did not embarrass him in the slightest, he said.

Councillor Lockley took a different view. Councillor Pomeroy had inquired what would be the cost of street, lighting and other improvements, and discovered these from the municipal engineer, H. V. Bourne.

Councillor Lockley quoted them. The expenditure of approximately $500 hardly could be off-set by the purchase price of $190, he said, although he readily recognized the advantage of getting rid of taxable land.

"The council surely cannot afford to spend to much in order to make a sale," said the councillor, who was Reeve Elrick, while expressing himself as anxious to dispose of all property possible to good buyers, questioned the advisability of a sale under such circumstances.

It was finally decided to consult with prospective buyer with a view to discussing terms. The council is not anxious to enter into such a business and thus create a situation where they are compelled to refuse offers below the upset price in some instances and accept in others.

PROMISES REDRESS

The report of Councillor Heald, chairman of the fire and light committee, which waited upon Fred McGregor, of the B.C. Fire Underwriters' Association, to question the right and reason for increase in Esquimalt's insurance rate, was received last night. Councillor Heald said that the committee had met Mr. McGregor and received, after explaining their arguments, a tentative promise that the matter should be given consideration. They pointed out to Mr. McGregor that it would be put before the convention of B.C. Municipalities in any event.

Recently announcement was made to the effect that the insurance rate in Esquimalt was to be increased. The reason for this was discussed by the complaining committee when in session with Mr. McGregor. He explained that Esquimalt was classed with unorganized districts, lacking the proper fire protection, but that because of a certain radius of a fire hydrant would still enjoy the old rates. The whole of Esquimalt, in this case, does not come under the influence of the rate raise.

The council will proceed to prepare statistics showing the improvements made in fire prevention work, fire fighting equipment and alarms since 1922, and the last underwriter's survey of the district. It will point out, too, that the municipality proper has had less than $100 of fire loss in the past year. This data will be put in the hands of Mr. McGregor together with a map of the district, showing precautions taken against fire, at no expense to the council.

TO PROTEST PUBLIC

A new by-law was given its first and second readings by the council, making the practice of two or more persons riding on a bicycle at one time illegal. This action follows the recent fatality on Old Esquimalt Road where two boys crashed into delivery wagon while riding on the same machine. One died. To make the by-law the more secure, two or more persons are prohibited riding on a bicycle.

The council went into "camera" to discuss particular business.

CITY'S HEALTH RECORDS ON TOP

August and September Give Clean Bill of Health in Every Respect

At a time when some Canadian cities in the West are greatly troubled by the sudden outbreak in isolated cases of infantile parvot, Victoria turned in its best monthly record for a clean bill of health this year, according to the August report of Dr. Arthur G. Price, City Health Officer, to the City Council last night. In that month Victoria was free from usual of all serious troubles, and again lowered its infantile mortality record, there being no deaths among viable infants under one year.

The September figures to date showed that this satisfactory state of public health was not only being well maintained, but that many of the minor troubles of the summer were subsiding, leaving the city entirely worthy of a first-class bill of public health.

Dr. Price was congratulated on his showing, made more effective by the care taken in the food and milk supply of the city, and in conducting infant welfare clinics which have gained popularity, as well as different forms of regulation throughout the whole of the Dominion.

NATURAL HISTORY SOCIETY MEETS

Good Attendance at First Meeting of Winter Season; Specimens Shown

With the president, G. C. Pemberton, in the chair, the first meeting of the Natural History Society of Victoria this season was held last evening in the Pemberton Building. There was a good attendance and some interesting discussions took place. Specimens of bird life in the form of British Columbia woodpeckers, as well as different forms of plant life were on exhibition. G. A. Hardy of the Provincial Museum, was in attendance, and pointed out to the members of the society the peculiarities of the various birds. In an interesting talk Mr. Hardy showed the difference between the woodpeckers of the coast and those of the interior of the Province. The interior birds are white breasted, while those of the coast are rather smoky colored. This was explained as due to humidity. Mr. Hardy also had on exhibition an emerald-colored tortoise beetle, a native of California.

Another interesting object shown at the meeting was the original book used to guide prospectors to the early British Columbia goldfields. It was published in London in 1828 and was used extensively by people going to the newly found goldfields. The book is owned by G. B. Kittle. In conjunction with this, Harold Nation pointed out a map the various ways used to reach British Columbia in the early fifties and sixties, from the Old Country. Through the Panama zone, by way of Cape Horn, and through a few small passes in the Rockies, were the routes, which occupied from two to six months to traverse.

An interesting specimen displayed last night was that of a mummified squirrel which was taken from a tree in the East Kootenay district.

It was stressed that this was not a skeleton, as the skin of the animal had not rotted but had dried on the bone. It is owned by Mrs. W. W. Madden of Quadra Street. The opinion of the society was asked in regard to the squirrel, outside the new Y.W.C.A. building on Blanshard Street. Mrs. J. W. Church, speaking for the Y.W.C.A., wanted to know if they should be removed as they were dirty, very probably dangerous to the pipes in the building, and had not much growing space. This was left open for discussion among the members.

McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets Fine For Thin Frail Kids

Children Love Them Because They Are Sugar-coated and as Easy to Take as Candy.

It's your duty, Mother, to see that the frail, peaked, sickly youngster grows up to be strong in body, keen in mind and robust in health. Extracted from the livers of the lowly codfish are the health, weight and strength producing vitamins that are found in McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets, which are sold by pharmacists all over North and South America.

Doctors know about them and so does MacFarlane Drug Co., Vancouver Drug Co. and Owl Drug Co., and druggists everywhere and if your children need building up ask for these tablets to-day if you want to give your loved ones a good healthy flesh on their bones. But be sure and get McCoy's.

They are not expensive—60 tablets—60 cents and if you are not pleased with the improvement after 30 days—your money back.

A very sickly child, age nine, gained 12 pounds in seven months and is strong and healthy.

One shining woman gained nine pounds in twenty-four days. (Adv.)

ASKS CITY TO PROTEST PHONE RATES TO BOARD

Ald. E. S. Woodward Asserts Case Could be Made Out For Reduction of Local Tariff

Railway Board of Canada to Be Petitioned on Inter-switching Plan

If a proposal made by Alderman Eugene S. Woodward is put into effect the city will prepare a case for presentation to the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada, to convene here on October 22, protesting against telephone rates charged city subscribers. Alderman Woodward proposed the action at the regular session of the City Council last night, on the ground that the former owners of the telephone utility had succeeded in securing a rate of rates from the board, and had then sold their stock at a considerable advance in value.

Mr. Woodward secured support to the extent of a council order to the city solicitor asking him to prepare, or commence work on the preparation of a brief which might be laid before the Railway Board at this or a future session. The legislative committee was left with a further development of the issue. As to the visit of the Railway Board on this occasion the council was informed by Mayor J. C. Penderay that the city's industrial adviser, A. E. Todd, acting in conjunction with a committee of the Chamber of Commerce, was hard at work in the preparation of a case for the advocacy of inter-switching privileges between the C.P.R. and the Canadian National tracks to grant greater freedom of freight movement for ocean loadings. A good case could be shown for this suggested change, it was stated.
